Soviet Union Severs Relations With Israel

Break Follows USSR Legation Bomb Incident

Police 'Connivance' Charged By Russia

LONDON, Thursday, Feb. 12 (AP)—Russia broke off diplomatic relations today with Israel over the bombing of the Soviet legation Monday in Tel Aviv.

The break, announced on the Moscow radio, blamed the Israeli government and said its police connived in the assault.

The Soviet government ordered members of the Israeli legation to get out of Moscow immediately and told its own legation personnel to leave Tel Aviv.

Four Soviet legation personnel were injured in the bomb blast.

The bombing was attributed generally to anti-Zionist charges in Moscow in connection with a purge of nine doctors, some of them Jewish. The doctors were accused of destroying or attempting to destroy some top Soviet leaders.

The announcement of the break came a few hours after a Moscow broadcast accused Israeli police of "connivance" in the bomb explosion.

Israel Denounced Bombing

Moscow radio said a formal note to Israel severing relations was "in connection with the bomb explosion."

Israeli government officials, headed by Premier David Ben-Gurion, already had denounced the bombing as a "dastardly" act which they said reflected on the honor of the state of Israel. Authorities in Tel Aviv launched a roundup of suspects in connection with the bombing, arresting both Jews and Arabs in various parts of the country.

Anti-Communist Israelis today broke up a pro-Soviet rally in the center of Tel Aviv. The rally was a protest to the legation bombing. Twenty-five Israelis were injured in the clash, two of them seriously, before police intervened.

Apologies Rejected

In addition to the doctors' purge in Moscow, there have been similar purges of Jewish elements in Soviet satellite countries.

The broadcast quoted the Soviet official news agency Tass as saying Russia had rejected Israel's official condemnation of the bombing and apologies for it.

"Such declarations and apologies of the Israeli government," the broadcast said, "are contradicted by numerous facts of direct participation of representatives of the Israeli government in fanning hatred for the Soviet Union and inciting to hostile actions against the USSR."

Korean Battle Front Is Quiet And Warm

SEOUL, Thursday, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Korean battle front was the quietest—and the warmest—of the new year Wednesday as Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor took over the 17-nation U. S. Eighth Army as its fourth commander.

Murky weather curtailed Allied air strikes. Only small patrol fights spluttered along the 155-mile front. Temperatures climbed into the mid-50's. Snow flurries of the night before turned into intermittent drizzling rain which washed the last traces of snow off the jagged ridges and battle-scarred valleys.

Ike Puts In One Of Busiest Days Since Taking Office

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower today put in one of his busiest days since taking office, capping it with a decision not to interfere with the death sentence of convicted Atom Spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

Earlier, the President met with about a dozen administration officials and Republican congressional leaders for a discussion on "the trade and reciprocal trade."

Eisenhower lunched with 15 GOP senators, another step in his announced plan to meet during the next few months with all the GOP members of Congress.

'Never Alone,' Film Star Declares

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Mickey Rooney's name popped up today from the purple past of Call Girl Pat Ward, but the pint-sized movie star said "we were never alone."

Miss Ward, a copper-haired 19-year-old, is star witness at the cafe society procuring trial of Minot (Mickey) Jelke, who isn't much taller than Rooney.

Four Die When B&O Train Hits Auto, Derails

GAITHERSBURG, Md., Feb. 11 (AP)—Four persons were reported killed and about nine injured, one critically, tonight in a collision between an automobile and a west-bound Baltimore and Ohio train here tonight.

The B & O reported seven of the eight cars and the locomotive and tender on the West Virginian, bound from Washington to Parkersburg, W. Va., were derailed, blocking the main line tracks.

State police said all the dead were passengers in the car that collided with the train at a crossing. Troopers said nine were injured on the train, while the railroad said one of its passengers was injured critically and "several others" hurt.

West Weighs Red Threat Of Second Berlin Blockade

BERLIN, Feb. 11 (AP)—The Communists talked tough today about a new blockade of Berlin.

The East Berlin party leadership issued a manifesto, obviously backed by the Russians, which declared "further isolation" of the West sectors can be counted on if Western powers ratify the European Defense Treaty next month.

Only Western adoption of the Soviet proposal for uniting Germany and Berlin can stave off such consequences, the Communists declared. Their manifesto was printed by the Soviet Army newspaper Tagelike Rundschau.

Declaration Taken Seriously

In West Berlin, a spokesman for the dominant Socialist Party said the manifesto apparently is the starting signal for new measures against the West.

American authorities said the declaration was so bold and blunt it must be taken seriously. Nevertheless, Cecil Lyon, chief of the U. S. High Commission's Berlin staff, commented tersely: "Sometimes they say one thing and do another."

While the West was weighing the words of the new threat, the Communists were going about measures that were suspiciously like preparations that preceded the Berlin blockade of 1948-49.

Treaty Reprisals Feared

Section gangs laid special S-bahn (elevated) tracks and switches at strategic points in the Soviet sector. The work appeared to be part of a plan to cut off service to West Berlin. The elevated lines carry the brunt of the city's traffic.

Western officials have in recent weeks expressed fear the Communists may shut off both the elevated and the subway as reprisals when they decide the army treaty and the related Bonn Peace Contract are about to be ratified.

Other White House developments included: 1. An announcement that Eisenhower will hold his first news conference as President next Tuesday at 10:30 a. m., EST. 2. The President signed a bill extending until 1955 his powers to reorganize executive agencies of the government.

4. The Eisenhower administration sent 30-day job termination notices to the 29 members of the staff of the President's Economic Advisory Council, pending a decision on whether to ask Congress for additional money to pay their salaries.

Milk, Poultry, Soap Will Be Decontrolled

Order To Include Many Other Items

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Price officials laid plans tonight for quick decontrol of another long list of goods which would leave only 10 to 12 per cent of the consumers' cost of living index package under price ceilings.

A top official said the schedule calls for an order by Friday probably decontrolling milk, butter, cheese, poultry, eggs, soap, lard and shortening, along with other items.

The list of products he named as under consideration for inclusion in the order would take controls off about 15 per cent of the whole cost of living bundle, stabilization officials said, and leave less than that percentage under control.

Auto Tires May Be Added

Many important items such as machinery, most autos and scarce metals, among others, would remain under control for the time being, but they do not have much direct consumer bearing.

The official who disclosed the plan said the list is still far from complete and final decisions will be made overnight.

He said other items likely to be included are rubber and rubber products, such as auto tires and tubes and footwear; lead, tin, zinc and scrap; pet foods; paper and paper products, such as waxed and treated papers, plates and newsprint. Newsprint was not specifically named but he said paper products would cover the whole field.

Brownlee Named Consultant

The exemption of fats and oil items also would include cleansers, synthetic detergents, and oleomargarine. In dairy products the list would cover canned milk and ice cream.

The information was given out shortly after formal announcement that James F. Brownlee, New York investment banker and former deputy director of the War-time Office of Price Administration (OPA), had been named government consultant on price and other controls.

The Brownlee assignment was taken as meaning that:

1. The issue of standby powers for wage-price and other controls in any future emergency is far from dead.

2. The Eisenhower administration has decided against the one-stroke erasure of remaining price curbs which had been urged in some quarters.

Freighter Afire, Sends Out SOS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11 (AP)—The freighter President Pierce tonight radioed that she was afire after explosions in her holds 150 miles south of Yokohama, Japan.

The SOS was heard by Globe Wireless here.

McKeldin Hopes Revenue Forecasts Will Make Tax Reduction Possible

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 11 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said today he would be "delighted" if state revenue forecasts can perceive more money on the horizon to make possible a tax cut.

He said with increased estimates Maryland would be able to continue a 15 per cent reduction in its income tax for the sales tax from household fuels.

The governor issued his statement on chances for tax relief after the General Assembly had received an anticipated proposal to install a ton-mile levy on trucks to pay for new roads.

McKeldin spoke only of general taxes in commenting on an announcement the Board of Revenue Estimates will meet shortly to revise its prediction of what present taxes are likely to raise in the next year.

Frederick W. Brune, a Baltimore attorney, threw in the ton-mile tax suggestion. He was on a commission which several years ago recommended charging heavy trucks on a basis of weight and distance traveled to raise money for highway improvements. The Legislature beat down the proposal.

Mentioned In Vice Case

Actor Mickey Rooney smilingly shows his wife, former Model Elaine Mahken, a news bulletin quoting an attorney in the New York vice trial of Minot Jelke that Playgirl Pat Ward had testified that she dated Rooney. Rooney said he met her five years ago but that they never were alone together.

Canada May Build 1,500 Mile-An-Hour "Flying Saucer"

TORONTO, Feb. 11 (AP)—The Toronto Star said today a 1,500 mile-an-hour "flying saucer" may be built in Canada.

The copyrighted story gives these reported details:

The proposed craft would be able to take off vertically, fly horizontally at 1,500 miles an hour and use the gyroscopic effect of a revolving power plant to acquire stability. It would be about 40 feet in diameter.

A wooden model is behind tarpaulin screens at an experimental hangar at nearby Malton.

British sources say the saucer would have a gas turbine engine of unconventional design revolving several times a minute around the pilot, who would sit in a plastic bubble. The saucer's rim would remain stationary.

U. S. Battle Casualties Increase To 129,819

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Announced U. S. battle casualties in Korea reached 129,819 today, an increase of 395 since last week.

The Defense Department's weekly summary based on notifications to families through last Friday reported:

Killed, 20,499; wounded, 96,295, and missing 13,025.

CIO Asks Seven Basic Changes In T-H Labor Act

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The CIO Executive Board called for seven basic changes in the Taft-Hartley Act today in the interest of "justice and fairness."

The proposals were given out as the House Labor Committee pushed forward its hearings on members' suggestions to amend the Labor Management Act of 1947.

The union made it clear that it still wants outright repeal of the law but said that "because of the realities of the situation" it is ready "to cooperate with a sincere effort to amend the law by eliminating its union-busting and other anti-labor provisions."

"Justice and fairness are all we ask," the board said. "Justice and fairness, we hope, are what the Congress wants."

Chairman McConnell (R-Pa.) of the House committee indicated that's what he has in mind although he came out flat-footedly against "such an extreme approach as outright repeal of the act."

McConnell made his comment after Rep. Byrd, (D-W.Va.), a freshman lawmaker from a coal-mining district, told the committee his constituents regard the T-H Act as "a slave labor law" and want it thrown out.

The CIO called for:

1. Elimination of injunction provisions, including the provision whereby injunctions may be obtained to delay national emergency strikes.

2. Removal of a ban against the closed shop, an arrangement under which only union members may be hired.

3. Dropping of provisions which hamper unions from striking, picketing, and refusing to handle struck work.

4. Elimination of provisions making unions liable to damage suits for unfair practices.

5. Simplification of language and removal of technicalities with regard to union officers' filing non-Communist oaths, and reports on union activity or finances.

6. Removal of provisions which, the CIO contends, operate to the benefit of craft unions and the detriment of industrial unions.

7. A change in provisions dealing with employers' rights to air their views on unionism.

Van Fleet To Explain

PATERSON, N. J., Feb. 11 (AP)—Gen. Van Fleet is to be called before the Senate Armed Services Committee in Washington to explain his belief that a Korean offensive could be successful.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.), chairman of the committee, disclosed this in a speech prepared for delivery tonight at the Lincoln Day dinner of the Passaic County Republican League.

Rosenbergs' Crime 'Worse Than Murder'

Judge Will Set New Date For Execution

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower refused today to spare the lives of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, sentenced to death in the electric chair for conspiring to slip atomic secrets to Russia.

Their crime, he said, "far exceeds that of taking the life of another citizen; it involves the deliberate betrayal of the entire nation and could very well result in the death of many thousands of innocent citizens."

The Rosenbergs, man and wife, are awaiting execution in New York's Sing Sing Prison.

Judge To Set Execution Date

They appealed for presidential clemency—the last resort in their long court fight—on the ground that they were innocent. With the appeal, Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman of New York granted a stay of execution until five days after the President announced his decision.

This does not necessarily mean the couple will die five days hence. The question of a date for their execution will come before Judge Kaufman again.

The Rosenbergs heard of Eisenhower's action on a prison radio, prison officials said. They had no comment.

Their attorney, Emanuel Bloch, said in New York that he was shocked by the news.

New Appeal Planned

He said he would appeal the decision to the U. S. Supreme Court. The Rosenbergs will be the first American civilians to pay with their lives for the crime of espionage against the United States.

In Communist countries they may be hailed as martyrs. There has been almost world-wide agitation among Communists and others to save the 34-year-old engineer and his tiny brunette wife, who is 36. The White House was picketed for 21 days as part of this demonstration.

But Eisenhower said "there has been neither new evidence nor have there been mitigating circumstances" which would justify his interceding in the case.

Crack Train Leaves Rails In Florida

NEW SMYRNA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 11 (AP)—The three unit diesel engine and 12 cars of the Vacationer, Miami to New York Pullman train, was derailed near here tonight but no one was seriously hurt.

Thomas Tipton, chief dispatcher here, said four or five persons were slightly hurt and had been taken to hospitals.

Tipton reported the first two units of the engine broke off from the 15-car train, went up the track some distance and overturned. The third unit was destroyed by fire, he said.

Ike Sells Dairy Herd

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Feb. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower has given up his 35-head herd of dairy cattle at his farm near here, an agent reported today.

S. S. McNair of Mechanicsburg, said he purchased the entire Eisenhower herd of 18 purebred Holsteins and 17 registered Guernseys to be resold to other breeders.

23 Navy Men May Remain Two Months In Sealed Sub

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Twenty-three Navy men who have been sealed up in a submarine since the middle of last month probably will continue their volunteer scientific endurance experiment for another month, or more.

Navy officials declined today to give the exact time during which an officer and 22 enlisted men will remain in the submarine Haddock at the New London, Conn., Navy yard. They are taking part in a test conducted with view to eventual use of nuclear-powered, or atomic, undersea boats.

But it was learned that plans originally were made for the men to remain aboard the "buttoned up" boat for about two months.

The Navy disclosed the plans for "Operation Haddock" last fall. At that time Rear Adm. Homer Walcott, chief of the Bureau of Ships, explained the test was to determine how men would react in a nuclear engine submarine which will be able to remain submerged almost indefinitely.

The experiment includes the amount of air contamination from carbon dioxide and other chemicals which sub crews can tolerate over long periods, the best foods, psychological reactions and other information.

The Haddock is not submerged but is closed up to simulate submerged conditions. It is tied up at a pier. Navy scientists, including a medical officer, board the Haddock frequently, using an airtight hatch, to check on conditions and talk with the men.

The engines of the Haddock are not run. Presumably the noise and vibration of conventional diesel engines running under snorkel conditions would be absent with an atomic power plant. The only sound would be the comparatively low singing of the steam turbine powered by the atomic "furnace."

No Hint Of U. S. Policies As U. N. Session Nears

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Feb. 11 (AP)—Allies and other countries friendly to the United States are grumbling because President Eisenhower's administration has given no hint of its policies on explosive issues in the U. N. General Assembly, which reconvenes Feb. 24.

They foresee a necessity for them to make snap decisions on vital items such as Korea. They note a possibility of American defeats and Russian propaganda advantages in the unprecedented situation.

Heavy pro-American majorities in previous sessions of the 60-nation Assembly, they maintain, have been won by a combination of two factors: U. S. policy was generally approved by the overwhelming majority of the free world for independent reasons and specific courses of action were drawn up after exhaustive consultations among many nations.

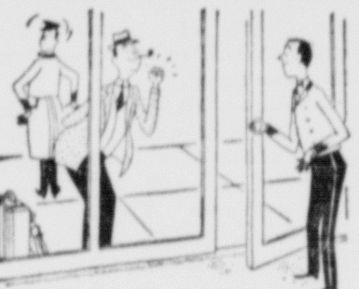

The U. S. delegation had, and still has, members whose primary task has been to coax, explain and exert support for a united front.

The month before an Assembly session has previously been hectic, with friendly delegations huddling and cables shooting to home governments for instructions.

Now, with the Assembly opening in 13 days, the U. S. mission has received no instructions from Washington and its "persuasion boys" have not begun work.

Delegations here understand the problem of a new administration taking over and trying to formulate its own policy. They have deliberately refrained from making any public statements which could be interpreted as criticism.

U. S. Diplomats Engage In Spying, Reds Charge

MOSCOW, Feb. 11 (AP)—The newspaper Trud charged today that the entire personnel of U. S. diplomatic missions abroad are engaged in espionage. It denounced Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, former U. S. ambassador to Moscow and new U. S. under secretary of state, as a rabid enemy of the USSR.

Trud made these comments in a review of a new book, "Secret Weapon of the Doomed," published here by V. Minaev.

The review quoted the book as saying American spies frequently were disguised as diplomats and correspondents. It cited a Lt. Drayer it said once was attached to the U. S. Embassy in Moscow and Robert Magdoff, former NBC correspondent who was expelled from Moscow in 1948 on charges of being an American spy.

"Wanted" Youth Loser In Chase

FREDERICK, Md., Feb. 11 (AP)—A high speed chase into Frederick from the west and through city streets early today resulted in the capture of a 19-year-old New Yorker wanted in Washington.

Police identified him as Julian Paul Lambrecht, 19, of Snyder, N. Y. They held him for questioning by Washington and Hagerstown police.

The chase started early today in Hagerstown when a filling station attendant called police and reported he had been run down by a driver who sped away without paying for gasoline and oil.

A check of the District of Columbia license plates showed the car belonged to Richard R. Gissano of 3411 Bronson St., N. W., who had not yet missed it.

A radio alarm alerted Frederick and state police as the chase moved down U. S. 40 from Hagerstown. Patrolman Vernon Heffner, on duty at Frederick's main intersection, said the driver of the car turned off the lights and tried to run him down.

The car was abandoned after several blocks and the occupant fled on foot. Lambrecht was picked up a short time later at a Frederick bus station.

He looked forward to eventual citizenship as he worked in Detroit auto plants. Then Sopko was drafted and sent to Korea.

He was discharged from the Army with two bronze stars and a collection of other ribbons.

Yesterday Attorney Zeleznik told him he was subject to deportation.

"That's the law," said the lawyer, "unless some other way can be found that isn't technical."

"Everyone has been so fine and kind to me," commented a discouraged Sopko. "It all has been a good dream, even the right to serve in Korea. But it seems to be falling apart."

sored a bill to hold the tax rate on investment income 2 per cent on the first $3,000. The charge now jumps to 5 per cent after $500.

Mel McNulty (D-Anne Arundel) recommended closing the doors on local bills at the halfway point of 90-day sessions. He introduced a constitutional amendment which also would prevent action on local legislation after 60 days.

The Senate passed and sent to the House Minority Leader Kimble's (R-Allegany) measure to admit Marylanders over 45 to law school on a high school education. They'd have to register by next November.

Mine Detector Provides Answer

CHESTER, Eng. Feb. 11 (AP)—Ozzie the ostrich in the Chester Zoo was not feeling well.

With a small clue to go on, the zoo called on the Army to send over three engineers with a mine detector.

A tell-tale whine was recorded. A veterinary surgeon gave Ozzie an anesthetic and extracted the missing padlock of Ozzie's cage from the bird's stomach.

Photograph Believed Lincoln At Gettysburg

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The government today announced discovery in its archives of what may be a long-unrecognized photograph of Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg.

The announcement was made by Wayne C. Grover, archivist of the United States, on the eve of Lincoln's birthday and anniversary.

Apparently the historical value of the picture went unrecognized for 90 years, but Grover said it has now been identified as a scene at Gettysburg, Pa., on the day Lincoln delivered his most famous address.

The photograph is part of a collection of 5,000 purchased by the War Department from Matthew Brady, noted Civil War photographer, in 1875.

Lincoln's Town Makes Abe A Poor Prophet With Elaborate Centennial

By KEN GOODRICH

LINCOLN, Ill.—If Abe Lincoln could come back on his birthday to this mid-Illinois town he named 100 years ago, he would find its 14,344 citizens busy preparing to celebrate its centennial. "Nothing named Lincoln ever amounted to much," declared the then struggling young lawyer when he named the new town of Lincoln for himself on Aug. 29, 1853. He was a lawyer for the proprietors of the town lots.

So closely entwined is the history of this Logan County seat and the surrounding area that naturally many of the centennial observances will have an Abe Lincoln flavor.

Already men are looking forward to centennial beards, pointing out that the Civil War President wore whiskers. Antique displays will bring out household articles used in Lincoln's day. Civil War costumes will show up in the centennial pageant which home town folks will put on.

Lincoln's (town) centennial is not the only one in Logan County scheduled this year. Atlanta, town of 2,000 in the north part of the county, observes its centennial in May. Atlanta in its early days also knew Lincoln well.

In fact, Atlanta so admired Lincoln that its citizens gave him a cane which he prized the rest of his life. Of orange wood and with a silver mounting, it was presented when he spoke in Atlanta at a Fourth of July celebration.

It was in Atlanta that Lincoln prepared the notes for his celebrated debate with Stephen A. Douglas in Freeport, Ill. And rehearsed his historic speech in an empty consultation room.

The town of Lincoln has its modern counterpart for the Great Emancipator. E. H. Lukenbill, president of the Logan County Historical Society and county school superintendent, has an authentic Abe Lincoln costume he has often worn for Lincoln observances. The historical society is taking an active part in boosting the centennial.

A centennial committee has been incorporated to take charge of the many-angled centennial celebrations. Headed by Raymond Dooley, president of Lincoln College, it is soliciting ideas. Unity is the centennial theme.

Lincoln, where Abe practiced law as he rode the old Eighth Judicial Circuit in eight counties, will be tidied for its 100th birthday. The Woman's Club, aided by contributions, is flowering up the grounds around the depot. There will be new street signs on corner posts.

Centennial visitors will find many landmarks to refresh memories of the rail splitter President. There's Postville Park where he indulged in such pioneer sports as throwing the maul; an old store built in 1837 which he frequented during court sessions; a plaque showing he was owner of a town lot when he was assassinated; and the many Lincoln treasures in the Lincolniana room of Lincoln College.

The Roman Emperor Gaius Maximus, born a shepherd, was a huge man who once ate 40 pounds of meat in a single day.

It's A Man's Month

Great man's birthday today. Author of that famous crack, "You haven't got time to fool all the people one at a time."

During times of national stress and peril we should remember his warning. "Never carry a bundle by the string."

Also, "Heaven must have loved the common people or Hank Ford wouldn't have sold so many model T's."

When we get into jams we like to figure out what Lincoln would do. Probably trade Chiang's 500,000 Formosans for Ralph Kiner.

We figure Ike will do all right himself. And that lawyers are wrong when they think it was Abe's speech at Gettysburg that lasted three days.

Abe never defended a real crook in his life. From all the biographies we read Abe smoked some, drank some and cussed some. That comes up about average.

He was a great fellow for illustrating his points with similes. If he was asked to describe his Gettysburg speech he'd say it was as short as the old lady's dance.

Kangaroos grow seven feet tall, weigh 300 pounds.

Stevenson And Truman

The "party line" for organization Democrats in the years of opposition ahead will be largely set by Adlai Stevenson in an address in New York on February 14. The occasion, a Jefferson-Jackson banquet for Democrats of Eastern states, indicates general acceptance of Stevenson's role as titular leader of the Democrats. His leadership is bolstered by the avowed support of former President Truman.

Stevenson on November 8, 1952, disclosed that he had received a telegram in which Truman acknowledged Stevenson as the leader of the Democratic party. Truman urged Stevenson to "revitalize" the party "as soon as possible."

Some restiveness with the Stevenson leadership was soon evidenced on Capitol Hill. Senator Maybank (S. C.) on November 19 said he regarded Senator Russell (Ga.) and Senator Byrd (Va.) as among the party's "caretakers," indicated he might not recognize Stevenson as head of the party. Russell on November 25 agreed that Stevenson was "titular" leader, but defined titular as meaning having "title without authority."

There followed, December 3 to 5, a series of political strategy talks between Stevenson and Truman at the White House. Stevenson issued the communique: Party interests "must be subordinated to the interests of the nation and the dispatch of the public business." And it was not their intention "to influence the Democratic members of Congress to obstruct, delay or in any way impair or imperil the new administration's programs in so far as is compatible with the views of the party."

Former Vice President Barkley echoed Stevenson on February 1 last: "It certainly is not the duty of the opposition party to jump in to make carping criticism merely for the sake of criticizing, merely for the sake of creating confusion in the minds of the people."

Democrats in Congress appear to be in a mood to go along with the Stevenson-Truman-Barkley formula, at least for the time being. Objections to Eisenhower cabinet and sub-cabinet appointments have been raised largely by Republicans, Senator Morse (Ind., Ore.), the non-party-line Senator Byrd. In the temporary teapot-tempest over the President's government reorganization powers Eisenhower received more support from Democrats than from Republicans.

As for Stevenson, his role as defeated candidate is almost unique in recent political history. The uniqueness lies in Stevenson having in the retired President a sort of right power. At the same time Truman, with his strong political associations, could at any time become a threat to Stevenson's leadership.

Woodrow Wilson was physically incapacitated when he left the White House in 1920, and limited political activity to advocacy of the League of Nations. Cox, the defeated candidate in 1920, gave up politics and the Democratic party was disorganized.

After 1913 ex-President Taft kept up his participation in public affairs, while eschewing politics. But Theodore Roosevelt, the third major-party candidate in 1912, had made peace with the GOP by 1916, became its leading critic of the Wilson policies, and at his death in 1919 was in line for the Republican Presidential nomination of 1920.

Humble Abe

Abraham Lincoln was a humble man. His early years of work as manual laborer, carpenter, store clerk and partner in a small store were spotted with failures. He had grown up without formal education. Even in politics he had many setbacks, and he had served only two years in Congress—more than 10 years previously—before being nominated for the Presidency.

Lincoln hardly thought of himself as a maker and shaper of history: "I claim not to have controlled events," he said in 1864, "but confess plainly that events have controlled me."

Lincoln's popularity was at low ebb early in 1864. He would almost certainly have been defeated for re-election if the military situation of the North had not suddenly improved. Even before his first inauguration, he narrowly escaped an assassination plot. Less than a week after Lee's surrender he was shot.

Lincoln's noble prescription for peace "with malice toward none, with charity for all" was not taken. Those who succeeded him did little "to bind up the nation's wounds" and secure "a just and lasting peace."

Lincoln was a humble man. Emerson said of him: "His heart was as great as the world, but there was no room in it to hold the memory of a wrong." Americans can best honor him on his birthday by striving for his kindness, humility, patience and for the national unity he stood for.

Dreams, Drapes, Etc.

Each year about this time we knock off to decipher and reduce to basic English the flood of spring fashion copy from Paris. This is strictly woman's stuff, but since man stands to lose most of the whim of the gents in Paris who do the dreaming and draping we feel it our duty to play watch dog for the fraternity. Believe us, it's not easy.

Under a Paris dateline, for example, we note that Fath has gone over to the "plunging line," which dips in the back where interest is concentrated." Coats, we are told, have a tricky fullness commencing below the shoulder blades and take on either the loose princess or the semi-fitted look. Another look you can achieve, ladies, is the tulip look, but which is unlike any tulip we ever saw. But this is a mere literal man speaking.

Despite the admonition that most dresses being shown are black we are told that Patou, with some scalawag named Jose Lafitte at the drafting board, has decided we need an escape from stark reality and "has taken us to sunny climes and blue skies." Oh, yeah?

Madeleine de Ruach, it says, understands the way the distinguished woman leading a country life wants to look. Well, maybe. But blue jeans and a tough shooting jacket would seem to be more practical to us. Anyhow there is considerable more that we haven't the time to discuss point by point.

There are barrel necks arranged in such a way that a good cooper appears to have been taken on as consultant. There are smooth weaves, basket weaves, and string colored floral embroidered motifs that might be mistaken for alcoholic weaves.

See you again in the spring of 1954 for another go-round.

How To Keep Well

Downward Trend In Complications

Complications are the physician's dilemma. They strike when least expected and often prolong the illness or threaten life. Now and then they convert a mild disease into a more serious disturbance, occasionally with crippling after-effects.

We frequently think of complications only in relation to surgery. Peritonitis, for example, is associated with appendicitis; clots in the lungs or legs follow pelvic operations or confinements. Pneumonia often develops in older persons when prolonged bed rest is required to mend a fractured hip. The "blood poisoning" that resulted from a neglected blister on the foot or infection on the hand also is well remembered.

Most of these conditions are preventable now and as a result seldom are encountered. "Old man" progress also has wielded the axe on the complications that customarily followed respiratory diseases. Ear infections are less prevalent and mastoiditis is almost extinct. Fifteen years ago these disturbances were everyday occurrences. We can thank the sulfonamides and penicillin for changing the pneumonia picture. Not only is the disease less frequent but the associated abscess and pleurisy rarely are present.

On the other hand, complications following virus infections still prevail, many of which involve the nervous system. Meningitis, for example, is a common accompaniment of mumps but fortunately causes so little trouble that unless special tests are done, the condition is likely to be missed. Encephalitis may appear in the acute phase of "red" measles, German measles, chickenpox, and smallpox. It is partial to youngsters and according to statistics is on the increase. Three decades ago, encephalitis occurred in about only one in 10,000 cases of measles, while today it develops in one out of 600 to 1,000 attacks. Involvement starts as the rash begins to wane and varies in severity from mild lethargy to deep coma. In some instances muscular twitching, rigidity, and tremors are present. In others, mental disturbances, slurring speech, or loss of equilibrium follows. Respiratory paralysis and loss of sensation also take place. This complication is becoming better known and is making us cognizant of the fact that diseases such as measles, mumps, and chickenpox are not as innocent as we have been led to believe.

But the convulsions that develop in children suffering from infectious diseases are not always due to an invasion of the brain by the micro-organism. The most frequent cause is fever. It is not understood why the elevation in temperature affects the brain in this way except that in some individuals the nervous tissue is more sensitive to heat. The tendency is outgrown, however, because convulsions of this nature are uncommon after the age of 6. In addition, the height of the temperature is not as important as the rate at which it starts. In this respect, a sudden rise to 103 degrees F. is more likely to produce convulsions than a gradual increase to 105 degrees F.

PRESSURE AND WINE

L. E. writes: Will drinking a glass of wine every day raise low blood pressure?

REPLY

Wine does not affect the blood pressure in this way unless it overstimulates or excites the individual.

DON'T RUSH HER

Mrs. W. writes: My 16-year-old daughter can't stand boys and won't make any dates. I took her to a psychiatrist but he minimized the problem. Have you any suggestions?

REPLY

I, too, would suggest that you minimize the problem and let nature take its course. Most parents today are confronted with the opposite situation: boy-crazy girls.

LEG BLOOD VESSELS

R. Y. writes: What is the relationship between intermittent claudication and hardening of the arteries of the legs?

REPLY

Intermittent claudication is the term used to describe a certain type of pain that develops in the legs of those with a circulatory disturbance such as arteriosclerosis or Buerger's disease. The sufferer is forced to stop after walking a block or two because of cramping of the calf or foot of one or the other. After a few moments of rest, distress subsides and, when an equal distance is covered, the symptom returns.

SHES LUCKY

Mrs. G. writes: What would cause a blood pressure of 110 in a 60-year-old woman?

REPLY

If we knew, we might have the solution to the blood pressure problem. A reading of 110 is ideal at any age and can be used as bragging material along the line of, "I'm 40 and haven't a gray hair in my head." "I still have all my own teeth." and "People tell me I look 10 years younger than my age."

Not Hard To Pass Through Iron Curtain Between Communist Germany And Free Berlin; Tidal Wave Of Refugees—Sometimes 2,000 Daily

(Ed. Note — Drew Pearson is now on a trip to Berlin and Paris to check on crucial developments there and report on progress being made in uniting our allies.)

BERLIN — A young German teacher was telling why he escaped from East Berlin where he had been teaching school under the Communists.

"I debated it a long time," he said. "Most people do. It isn't an easy decision to make. A lot of us think we can do more good staying among the Communists and undercutting them."

"Take my case," he continued. "I had to work terribly hard because at night, after school, I had to attend special Communist night classes where we were told what to teach. And we had to go through the pretense of teaching Communist drivel. However, the children are smart and by the tone of your voice or by using sarcasm they get the truth. I suppose that most of the German teachers in East Berlin are teaching that way—going through the motions yet doing their best to convey the real truth about Russia."

"However, one night I went to a movie in West Berlin. It was a movie about Marshal Rommel, called 'The Desert Rat'. I wanted to see what it was like but, coming out of the movie, I saw a Communist spy who had been keeping an eye on me. I knew my time was up, so I stayed in West Berlin that night and have never gone back."

"Was the movie worth all the trouble it caused?" I asked.

"No, it glorified Rommel, made him a hero when he was really a heel," the schoolteacher replied.

European Phenomenon

It isn't hard to cross the iron curtain between Communist Germany and free Berlin. There are 66 streets between the Communist world and the free world. And while at every place else along the long line of barbed wire leading from the Baltic to the Balkans you are likely to be shot, if you want to cross the iron curtain at Berlin you merely ride the subway during the rush hour or walk down a side street. You can even carry a suitcase and the guards won't bother you—unless you take too many suitcases. That's why it's better to leave your baggage with a friend, then come back and carry it across the border piece by piece.

At first it was largely Jews who came across—elderly Jews, who had lived their entire lives in one place, hated to move, and didn't move until Stalin started emulating Hitler. Now there are not many Jews left in East Germany, possibly 2,000, yet the stream of refugees keeps piling across from the Communist zone to the free zone like a human tidal wave—Protestants, Catholics, all religions, all trades—sometimes 2,000 a day and a total of 26,000 in January. It's the greatest phenomenon in Europe.

Berlin has always had some refugees. Berliners got used to them, like the steady drip of a leaky spigot. But now the spigot has turned loose a flood sea of humanity seeking refuge from Communist oppression. It's the greatest challenge to the free world since the Berlin airlift.

Obviously the Communist leaders on the other side of the iron curtain are chortling at the embarrassment of German officials who have already absorbed 11,000,000 refugees since the war and are now called upon to handle this additional influx despite a quarter of a million unemployed already in Berlin.

Refugee Camps Crowded
Though the Bonn government has now organized a virtual human airlift to fly refugees out of jam-packed Berlin, 77 refugee camps have been organized within this battered but energetic onetime capital of Germany. I visited some of them yesterday. One young farmer's wife with three children told how her husband faced prison for inability to fill his onion quota.

"We were supposed to supply the state with 800 kilos (1,760 pounds) of onions," she explained, "but we had a crop failure and produced only one-quarter that much. They told us to supply 60 centners (600 pounds) of pork instead, but we didn't have that much—so they are taking our land."

Another farmer from Mecklenburg had a similar experience. "I was supposed to supply 80 centners of pork together with beets and other things but I fell down on the pork quota. Next year I turned the farm over to my son, thinking he could do better but he had hard luck too. We didn't eat any pork, milk or butter ourselves. We tried to produce for the state but it was no use. I'm a grandfather. My farm has been with my family for 700 years. Some day I hope to go back—when we have no more communism in Germany."

A woman who had fled from Brandenburg had this to say: "There were only two Communists in our village, but they caused all the trouble. I expect the Russians are the same way. They aren't such bad people, but just a few of them cause all the trouble."

The refugees housed in bombed-out factories, sleep on straw sacks, which is about all the harassed city of Berlin authorities can offer. New arrivals seem undismayed, however, being eager to face the free non-Communist world. The problem is to keep them that way. If they must remain indefinitely in the bombed-out factories, they will become bitter eventually and go back across the iron curtain to spread the word that Western freedom consists of sitting or sleeping

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Oh Walls Of Jericho

WASHINGTON

Before the Congress lightheadedly votes for an invasion of Communist China, it will be wise to ponder a few dreary, sober facts. The fact that invasion has been tried before might be considered first of all. The story of the attack on Yunnan Province was hushed up with remarkable success, but it certainly deserves to be told now.

In brief, Yunnan, in the remote Chinese southwest, has always been the most independent of the great Chinese provinces. It was the last to be added to the Chinese empire, by Kublai Khan. It was the last to be occupied by the Chinese Communists. It was, and is, comparatively lightly held by the Red Army.

When the Chinese Communists entered Yunnan, an intact Chinese Nationalist army of about 12,000 men escaped across the border, into the trackless mountains of North Burma and Northern Thailand. This army, commanded by the well known Nationalist general, Li Mi, was thereafter supplied by air from Formosa. The clandestine air supply system was set up with the assistance of our Central Intelligence Agency.

In the summer of 1951, Chiang Kai-shek's intelligence analysts and their American collaborators were apparently gravely misled. At any rate, Gen. Li Mi's army was ordered to march back into Yunnan Province, still with CIA assistance. The attempt was made late in the summer, with catastrophic results.

Nationalist Propaganda

A large part of Li Mi's army was destroyed or scattered, and several American liaison officers were lost. The remnant of Li Mi's forces was routed and took refuge again in the North Burma mountains, where the general and about 4,000 of his troops remain to this day. The Burman and British governments got wind of the adventure and all but exploded. The American ambassador to Rangoon resigned in protest. And Secretary of State Dean G. Acheson took a deep breath, and boldly denied that the American government had any share in what had happened.

This experience hardly suggests that millions of anti-Communist Chinese will spring instantly to arms, at the first muffled tramp of liberating feet. On this point, moreover, there is much other evidence.

The Chinese Nationalist claim that there are "a million and a half anti-Communist guerrillas" is strictly propaganda, and for public consumption only. When talking business with official American representatives, Chiang Kai-shek people have recently claimed no more than 200,000 guerrillas. American experts use an even smaller estimate, because of the many signs that the Chinese Communists have been grimly efficient in stamping out guerrilla movements everywhere. Even intelligence is hard to get. Many teams have been wiped off the face of the earth because of the suspected presence of hostile intelligence agents. Astonishingly little reliable intelligence comes through from Chinese Communist territory. Expectations Are Silly

It is clear, moreover, that Chiang Kai-shek himself has no inclination to under-estimate Communist strength. Chiang's real mood (very different from the mood now widely attributed to him) was revealed by his response to the news of President Eisenhower's changed orders to the 7th Fleet. This took the form of two rather nervous questions, which the Formosa government asked warmly sympathetic American representatives on the scene.

Did the change in the 7th Fleet's orders mean that Formosa, being "neutralized" no longer, would no longer be protected from invasion by the Chinese Communists? Having been reassured on this point, the Formosa government asked about air defense. Since President Eisenhower has authorized the use of Formosa as a base against the mainland, the Chinese Communists may seize the pretext to launch air attacks on Formosa. With his obsolete F-51s, Chiang's flyers cannot intercept jet-powered Communist IL-28s. Would the United States defend Formosa in the air?

These were not the questions of a man who had been fretting and fuming to be "unleashed," so that he could assume the offensive. But these questions are characteristic of Chiang, who is a shrewd, sensible and eminently cautious commander. For this very reason, most of the expectations that are now being raised are transparently silly.

Chiang will no doubt take all the supplies he can persuade President Eisenhower to give him. He will no doubt continue the pinprick raids on the China coast, that he began long before Eisenhower's famous order that is supposed to have unleashed him. But it is also pretty certain that Chiang will not attempt any major operation against the Chinese Communists, whether in the air, by sea or on land, unless the United States joins him as an equal partner—and that is likely to mean full scale war.

The time has come to consider even this dark alternative. But the decision must not be made with the idea that the Senate of the United States is Joshua's trumpet. The walls of the new Jericho are not going to fall by reason of simple senatorial bellowing. Victory is not a bargain basement item.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Now that the truth is coming out to show the false basis of various charges against Vice President Nixon in connection with the political fund raised while he was a member of the Senate, it would be equally interesting if the whole truth about the money raised in Illinois for Governor Stevenson were disclosed.

For the amazing fact is that, while the Democratic presidential nominee during the last campaign made full disclosure of his own income-tax returns, he never made an accounting or statement or revelation of any kind concerning three political funds—1950, 1951 and 1952—to which contributions were made in Illinois while he was governor.

Mr. Stevenson's data as published thus far relates only to his 1948 campaign fund. Johnson Kanady, veteran newspaper correspondent at Springfield, Ill., writes the following memorandum which has been received by this correspondent:

"No newspaper was ever able to get details of the 1950 and 1951 Stevenson funds, and so far as I know no newspaperman with Stevenson, except me, tried very hard. I was turned down a score of times on the request by William I. Flanagan, who was Stevenson's press secretary, and at one time I submitted formal written questions, and received no reply to them."

"There was never an opportunity to ask Stevenson about the matter personally. To my mind he never held a press conference after September 15th and certainly never after the fund controversies broke. The only fund information we had from Stevenson was the detailed breakdown he issued in a formal statement. It showed 1948-49 contributors but failed to make clear how much of that fund was collected after the November 1948 election. There was a substantial deficit in the campaign fund at the time of his election."

Collections Easy

"Collections, of course, came easily after the 1948 election, and I have been told they surpassed the deficit and provided a surplus which became the kernel of the controversial personal expense fund used for salary supplementation through 'Christmas gifts.' ... 'I am the source of the story that Stevenson personally used money from a fund for his own expenses. We published the story after it was verified by Mr. Flanagan. The late James W. Mulroy, who was fired by Stevenson, once showed me a checkbook for the private Stevenson fund. His point was not in criticism of the governor — he was describing Stevenson's meticulous care in not using state expense money. He showed me records of checks drawn to defray expenses for a trip to the New York Herald Tribune forum, and to pay for candy for a governor's Christmas party. The two were cited as examples."

"Verification of the fund handled by Mulroy came from Flanagan on questioning by me. He said at the time he did not know whether the fund still (1951-52) existed, or who was then handling it. Flanagan also declined to clarify my questions as to just how many funds there were. We were never able to get satisfactory information on what happened to the Forsyth fund, or the similar fund which had been collected by a group headed by Herman Dunlap Smith in the Chicago area."

In a statement on September 27, 1952, released at Louisville, Kentucky, when the governor was there on a speaking trip, Mr. Stevenson said in part:

Other Funds Raised

"So much for the matter of gifts to state employees. There have been assertions that there were other political contributions made during my administration. Of course, there were—1950, 1951 and 1952 were all election years in Illinois. Campaign contributions were received in all these years—and they were spent for political purposes."

This paragraph seems to have been completely overlooked by otherwise inquisitive newspapermen traveling with Governor Stevenson during the last campaign.

Governor Stevenson was not a candidate in either 1950 or 1951. No detailed information has been made available as to the sums collected either from firms doing business with the state government in Illinois or from state employees, though there have been printed various charges that state employees were required to "kick in" a certain percentage of their salaries. The full amount of the sums collected has never been disclosed.

It is not to be inferred from the foregoing that the Illinois Governor did anything wrong either in personally soliciting campaign funds, as he did once at a luncheon for a group of Chicago business men, or in spending any part of the funds in connection with trips to make speeches, as did Vice President Nixon when he was Senator. But in the interest of historical accuracy and future appraisal of political funds, it is desirable to ascertain wherein the three Stevenson funds differed, if at all, from the Nixon fund raised not by him but by a trustee and also spent for "political purposes."

Whisky Theft At Ridgeley Prompted By Sale Promise

Suits are made to order and uncovered in Morgantown, W. Va., where a man admitted robbing the state liquor store at Ridgeley after being assured of a sale for the stolen goods.

Louis James Riser Jr., who is serving a term in the West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville after being convicted of the Ridgeley theft, testified he arranged to sell the liquor to Tony Torch and Tommy Scavariello before taking the liquor.

One Operates Club
Torch operates the Flamingo

Club at Morgantown and Torch is a former police chief at Granville, near Morgantown. They are charged with receiving stolen goods.

Riser and Douglas John Jones confessed to robbing the Ridgeley store last August. Jones was taken to Baltimore where he was wanted on other charges.

According to Riser, he and Jones took 16 cases of whisky valued at $717.10 from the state store and sold it to Scavariello and Torch for $290. Riser said he and Jones went to Morgantown last August and asked the two men if they would be interested in some cheap whisky. Told that they would, Riser said he and Jones went to Ridgeley, robbed the store on a Sunday night, and returned to Morgantown the following day.

Went To Garage

Before going to Ridgeley, Riser said Torch gave him a card with Torch's name and phone number, and told him to call him when they returned. He used this card to call Torch the witness said.

According to these details, as given by Riser, he and Jones were to follow Torch and Scavariello to the latter's garage and transfer the whisky.

Scavariello, Riser said, "paid both of us in the garage." After his arrest, Riser said, he identified Scavariello, whom he knew as "Monk" or "Joe," for State Police.

Fluorescent Lighting Installed At LaSalle

The second phase of the modernization program at LaSalle High School has been completed with the installation of fluorescent lighting on the first floor of the school building.

The new-type lights were installed in six classrooms, the typing room, library and corridor, and since the school office had previously been modernized with such lighting, the entire main floor of the building is lighted by modern fixtures. A total of 40 lights were installed.

The next phase of the modernization program will be tiling of the classrooms and painting and plastering of the entire school. It is hoped that this work can be started during the Easter holidays.

January Report Cites 33 Highway Deaths

Thirty-three persons have met death on the highways of Maryland so far this year.

The figure was released by Maryland State Police in a report on fatalities occurring in the state during the month of January.

The heaviest number of deaths occurred on Fridays of the month with a total of eight for the four-week period. Seven persons died in highway mishaps occurring on Saturdays; five on Thursdays; four on Wednesdays, and three each on Sundays, Mondays and Tuesdays.

A reminder from the State Police: "Highway safety is everybody's business. Let's stop this killing."

Other chairmen are Mrs. Wilmer Browne, Goody Shoppe; Mrs. Russell Berry, sandwich bar; Mrs. Edward Wilson, tickets; Mrs. Karl Taschenberger, publicity; Harry Glass, games room; Karl Taschenberger, soft drinks; Harry Griggs, popcorn; Miss Jeanne Lippold, movies; Peter Smith, house committee, and Miss Margaret Engles, peep show.

Legion Post Here Is Top In State

Russell C. Paupe, adjutant of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, Tuesday night announced that the post is leading all others in Maryland in membership as of the first of the month.

The post has currently signed up 839 members, according to Joseph P. Challinor, membership chairman, who added that indications are that the post would meet its goal of 1,500 members by the end of the drive, March 1.

Five members, Challinor stated, are in the running for the "100 Club," which would indicate that they had signed up 100 members during the drive. They are Joseph M. Fradiska, 84; Howard M. Spiker, 74; Robert Washbaugh, 72; Paul C. Weisenmiller, 56, and Paupe, 45. Other members of the post were asked to assist these members in attaining the 100 goal.

Films were shown by the local Marine Corps Reserve unit following the meeting.

Children To Get Turkey Dinners

Students who eat their lunches in public school cafeterias have received another "Christmas" treat, turkey, according to William P. Cooper, director of cafeterias for the Allegany County Board of Education.

One shipment of government surplus turkey was received for the annual Christmas dinner but an extra amount was acquired by the Board of Education last week.

The shipment was the same size as the one at Christmas, over two and one-half tons, Cooper said.

Half of this last amount was dispatched last week to the cafeterias while the other half will be distributed next Wednesday.

Color Film On Science Scheduled At Church

"God of Creation," a sound color film on science, will be shown to the public at the 7:30 p. m. service Sunday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Scenes show the size and number of planets and other heavenly bodies, plants growing and the microscopic period.

$2,000 Is Sought In Damage Suit

A damage suit arising out of an accident where an automobile wrecked a wrecker was filed Tuesday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Harry V. Reeves, of Westernport, operator of Reeves Motor Company there, owner of the hoist truck, to the use of the Home Insurance Company, is suing Morris E. Schell, of Main Street, Extended, Westernport.

The accident occurred in New Year's Morning on Route 135 between McCocle and Westernport. It was contended in the suit that Schell's negligence caused his auto to crash into the rear of the wrecker Reeves was driving.

Reeves is seeking $2,000 to cover the damage to his wrecker and a compensation for loss of its services.

Both Schell and his wife were injured.

ACEI Meeting Set

Patricia Prendergast To Be Bride Of Rex O'Neal Miller

Miss Patricia Eloise Prendergast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Francis Prendergast, 511 Washington Street, is to become the bride of Rex O'Neal Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rex Miller, 803 Fayette Street, today.

The double ring wedding ceremony is being solemnized at 11:30 this morning in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, with Rev. John U. Lynes officiating. Standards of white gladioli are being used in the decorations and the traditional wedding march from the opera Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's recessional are being played by Sister Aquinette.

Miss Eleanor Prendergast is to be her sister's maid of honor and only attendant, while Robert Matthews is serving as Mr. Miller's best man.

The bride, who is being given in marriage by her father, is wearing a gray suit with a small pink hat trimmed with pink roses and veil. Completing her costume she is carrying a nosegay of violets.

Her maid of honor will be attired in a silk cocoa print, two piece, dress with which she is wearing a cocoa flowered hat and a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Prendergast has selected a dubonnet colored dress for her daughter's wedding. With it she is wearing a pink hat and has a corsage of freesia on her purse. Mrs. Miller has a dark blue costume with a gardenia corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Catholic Girls Central High School.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Allegany High School, where he was active in athletics and a member of the Hi-Y. He is employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Prendergast are entertaining with a wedding breakfast for the bride party and immediate families at their home, following the ceremony. Assorted white flowers are being used in the decorations on the mantel and throughout the house. The bride's bouquet is repeated in the tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Upon their return from a wedding trip Mr. Miller and his bride will reside at 411 Washington Street.

Nominating Committee Is Named

A Nominating committee was appointed and announcement of the World Day of Prayer service made at the meeting of the Women's Society of United Service of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, Tuesday night at the church. Mrs. William Knotts presided.

Mrs. Charles Welsh, Mrs. Fred Goss and Mrs. Whiting Linaberg were named to the Nominating committee. Reports were given by Mrs. Edgar Shumaker, Spiritual Life chairman; Mrs. Charles Welsh, Christian Education; and Mrs. Virgie Yeager, Christian Social Relations.

Members were urged to attend the World Day of Prayer services, February 20. There will be a service at 2 p. m., in Centre Street Methodist Church and one at 7:30 p. m., at the Brethren Church, Cedar Street.

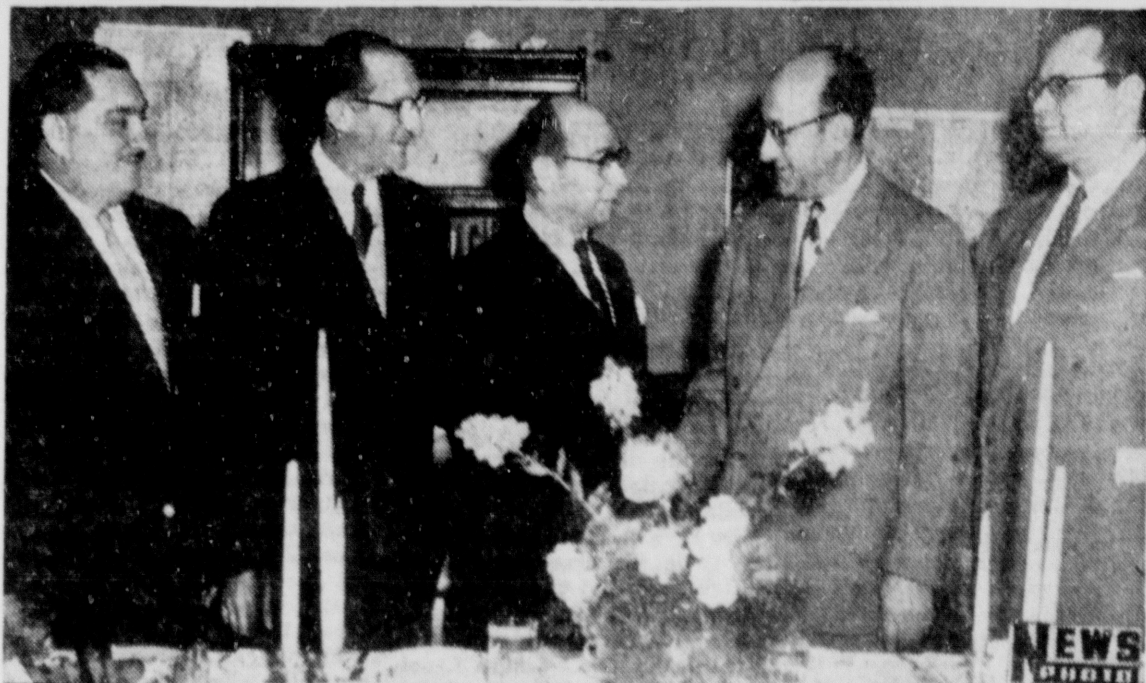

The devotional period opened with the singing of "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning." Mrs. Fred Boyd read the Scripture, using the second Corinthians, eighth chapter, three to eight verses. Mrs. Welsh reported on chapter five of the book, "African Heritage." Mrs. Goss offered prayer for the African Christians. Articles of two new missionaries were read and Mrs. Linaberg spoke of Christian experiences of an African Christian home. The group sang, "Jesus Is Calling," and the program closed with a candlelighting service with all taking part.

The final session of the annual bridge and canasta tournament of the Cumberland Country Club will be held tomorrow night at the club. Play will begin at 8 o'clock.

W. Va. House Passes Bill To Boost Oil Wells

Permits Water Use To Hike Production

CHARLESTON, W. Va., (AP) — A bill to permit use of water pressure to boost the production of faltering oil wells was passed by the West Virginia House yesterday after one of the longest debates of the current Legislature.

The measure, sponsored by Del. Scanes (D-Harrison), was approved 79-15 and sent to the Senate.

A dozen or more House members took part in the debate, in which opponents raised the cry that the legislation's chief benefit would accrue to "big interests" and "absentee landlords."

An identical Senate bill, sponsored by Sen. Jackson (D-Lincoln), was held over for a day at passage stage in that chamber to await the results of House action.

After only slightly less argument, the House deferred action on a bill to permit juries in civil cases to return verdicts upon agreement of five-sixths of their number. The bill was sent back to the judiciary committee.

A measure concerning vacancies in the office of circuit clerks became the first bill of the 1953 Legislature to be passed finally by both houses and sent to the governor.

It was approved, 94-0.

Sen. Love (D-Kanawha) was sponsor of the bill, which would permit party executive committees in the counties to nominate candidates to fill such vacancies in circumstances where it is now done by a nominating convention. The bill had passed the Senate earlier.

Del. Parker (R-Wood) introduced in the House a resolution to establish a "Little Hoover Commission" to conduct a study of the executive branch of the state government and make recommendations for streamlining it and improving its efficiency.

The resolution said that in its growth over the years, the executive branch has lost its original simplicity of organization. It has now become "exceedingly complex, unwieldy and unmanageable," the resolution said.

Propose Amendment

Another House resolution, sponsored by Del. Fumich (D-Monongalia), proposed submission to the state's voters next year a constitutional amendment to permit the governor to serve a maximum of two consecutive four-year terms.

West Virginia governors cannot now succeed themselves.

Should the amendment eventually be adopted, the change would not apply to the present governor, William C. Marland.

The Senate passed one bill and sent it to the House during its brief session. That was a measure to permit cities of 10,000 to 50,000 population to fix salaries of the mayor, city manager and councilmen.

Introduction of water pressure into oil wells to boost production is based upon the fact that water is heavier than oil and the oil therefore would be forced to the surface. The practice, which would be permitted by Scanes' bill, now is prohibited in West Virginia.

Keyser Women To Sponsor Girl Scout Troop

Program Listed At Club Meeting

KEYSER — "Men and Women Who Have Made America Great" was the theme of the program presented to the Keyser Woman's Club Tuesday evening under direction of Mrs. Carl Peterson, program chairman and narrator. Others taking part with characters represented were: Armando Henriquez, instructor at Fort Ashby High School; Thomas Jefferson; Mrs. Paul Iverson; Emily Dickson; Mrs. Vernon Rankin; Jane Addams; and Carl Peterson, George Washington Carver.

Robert J. Martin sang, "I Dream of Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair", and Mrs. William Kauffman sang, "Summertime". Both were accompanied on the piano by Mrs. E. E. Church. The program covered a period of 200 years.

During the business session over which Dr. Nancy Miller presided, the club voted to sponsor a Girl Scout Senior troop, which makes a complete program now in Keyser, Brownies, Intermediates and Senior troops, all sponsored by the club.

Miss Mary Shipper announced a square dance with the date tentatively given as February 20 to be held in the Keyser Fire Hall. The proceeds will go to the Keyser-Mineral County library, which the club also sponsors.

Two books, "One Volume Bible Commentary", and "Antology of Children Literature", Johnson Scott-Sickels, were presented to the library by the club in memory of Mrs. Arthur Wells and Mrs. Carter Long, deceased members.

Dr. Miller asked that members bring material, thread or needles to her home on State Street, on or before February 27. These are to be sent to Germany to be used in youth centers.

Mrs. James Goldsworthy reported on the General Federation Clubwoman. Mrs. Church announced a rummage sale will be held soon.

The next meeting will be the annual guest banquet to be held at Davis Hall, Potomac State School, on Tuesday, March 3, at 7 p. m. Only 150 tickets will be available, which can be obtained at Elsie's Shop, Main street. Dr. Henry Gerald, mentalist, humorist, scientist, will be the guest speaker.

Keyser Association Sponsoring Concert On February 23

KEYSER—The Keyser Community Concert Association will present the last in a series of three concerts this season, on February 23, when Mario Braggiotti, international favorite pianist, will appear here. The recital will be in the Keyser High School Auditorium at 8:15 p. m.

Although the recital is open only to members of the association, persons who become new members by enrolling for next year's concert season may attend the Braggiotti concert. Officers and volunteer workers of the organization will have membership cards available prior to the concert, although the actual campaign will not be conducted until April.

and Robert Bray, RD 3, visited Tressa Friend recently.

Glenn and George Rexrode, Mrs. Ada Paugh and Mrs. Ernest Sweetzer visited Mrs. Glenn Rexrode of near Baltimore on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Friend, Washington, D. C. spent the week-end here with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Friend, RD 2.

Mrs. Ted Beckman, RD 1, underwent an operation in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, Tuesday.

Mrs. John Friend and son, Leroy, visited Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Landis and son, Eldon, Sunday at Keyser. The latter has been confined to his home the past six weeks due to illness.

Gladys Grandstaff, Oakland, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Sweetzer, here.

Mrs. Amy Wilson, Floyd and David Wilson, Alliance, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Friend, Deer Park,

Keyser Playground To Be Discontinued

KEYSER—The Keyser Recreation Board decided at its regular meeting Monday night to discontinue the South End Playlot at the corner of Newton and South Mineral Streets. The decision was reached when it was learned that there was very little cooperation from persons in that area. When the playground season opens, this site will be eliminated as a sponsored playground.

My New York

by Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—The woman in the row behind me was a thin blonde with high cheekbones. Her hair was back, tight, and there was about her that ethereal look she will have until she dies. Her name was Julie Hayden and she was, as she always is, the most interesting-looking soul in the first-night audience.

I was sneaking looks at her and the reason why was that onstage, in the Vanderbilt Theater that has been rescued for the legitimate actors after 14 sad years as a radio studio, a young actress was hushing the first-nighters into silence with a gesture, or making them cry openly with her artistry—just as Julia Hayden did once. I started to add "a few years ago" to that sentence but as I think back, it really is more than a few.

When the young actress onstage permitted, I thought some philosophical thoughts about what must be going through Miss Julie's mind. She must be somewhere in her 30s now and only once in a long while do you see her now in a play, which is puzzling because she still is lovely, still skillful.

For a while there she was reported running a flower shop between engagements. Maybe she still is. If you go in for offbeat movies you may remember her as the star-crossed heroine of "The Scoundrel." If you get into town for the plays at all, you may remember how she bowed over the first-nighters in "Shadow and Substance."

However, this night, the story was not in the row behind me but upon the stage.

The young actress is named Geraldine Page and the play is one by Vina Delmar called "Mid-Summer." If you had not been there, this first night, you would have hooted at the situation. It was right out of a bad movie.

Explaining what she did up there on the stage or how she did it is beyond the powers of any writer, of course. In sum, what she did was bring a simple, Good person (and the Good person in this life, spelled with a capital G, can be counted swiftly by a boy who has failed arithmetic) to life, in a well-written part that she invested with enormous stature.

It made me wonder all over

What's the inside story of your purse? Does it reveal your private life as neat, smart and well-organized?

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The color and shape of your purse, say the fashionists, can make or break any costume. But ask any man — it's what the opening of your purse reveals that spoils your look of perfection or enhances it. I'm the first to admit that a man, with this uncountable number of pockets, has an advantage over women in this matter.

He has all the pockets he needs to file his papers, keys and personal packables with no problems. But a woman has only her purse, only one receptacle in which to pack her "office away from the office" and her "dressing table away from home." That is a large assignment for any purse. It's not surprising that so many of them become a jumble of untidiness.

Purse Organization
Nevertheless, to a man, such jumble tarnishes the impression of the glossiest feminine perfection. And it need never happen to you, if you just collect a small number of accessories.

To outfit your purse skillfully, decide on an overall color scheme and assemble your accessories accordingly. The list that follows is complete except for special needs; each item has been chosen for its particular efficiency.

For the "business" department, select a wallet with change purse attached, a small notebook with perforated sheets that can be disposed of as notations become outdated, an automatic pen or pencil (is there anything more unsightly than chewed or broken pencil stubs?) a miniature address book, "specs" case, and if you smoke, a cigarette case and lighter or good-looking book matches.

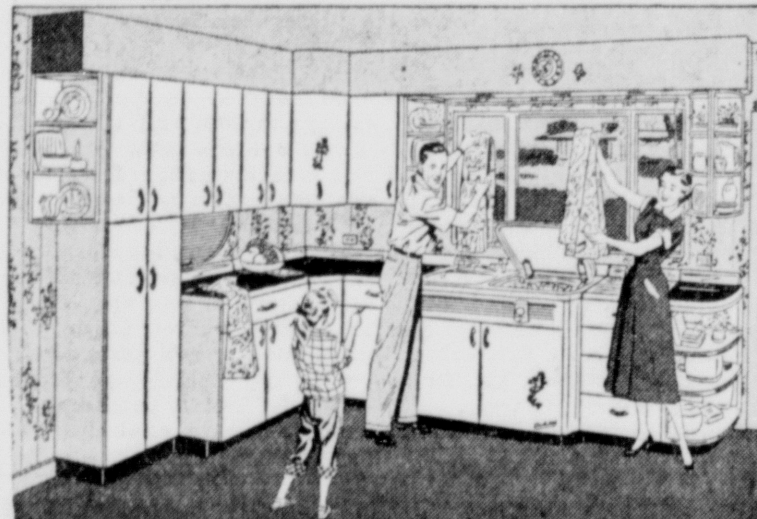

For the "beauty" department, a cosmetic case that will hold a comb, tiny hair and clothing brushes, deodorant stick, pill box, breath sweetener, books of emeries and tissue, and a flacon of scent makes a most important contribution to purse neatness. File your compact and lipstick directly in your bag so you need not open your cosmetic kit in public when only a quick touch-up is needed. A mirror that clamps around your lipstick saves many a tangle with a compact, too. Line up all this in your bag like ballet dancers in a row and you have everything neatly at hand.

In all Africa there are only four independent countries not associated with colonial empires: Egypt, Ethiopia, Liberia and Libya.

But even those whose purses are neat and well-organized sometimes err in the freshness of their purse linings. Keep on hand the liquid and cream cleaners and the brushes needed to keep linings free from stain and soil. Use them to houseclean before the need ever is apparent. When the inside of a bag deteriorates but the outside is still good, have the old lining re-lined or a new one inserted at a renovating shop. In metropolitan areas, such shops can easily be found.

Let your purse tell naught about you but what is charming!

Gavilan Retains Title With 10th Round TKO Over Davey

Challenger Floored Four Times In Bout

Chuck Is Unable To Answer Bell; Loses First Fight

By JACK HAND

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (AP)—Cuba Kid Gavilan, a rugged champion from the school of hard knocks, floored college-bred Chuck Davey four times tonight with his explosive punching to hold his welterweight title on a tenth round technical knockout.

The previously unbeaten Davey was unable to answer the bell for the 10th after absorbing a bloody beating in the savage ninth.

Switches Style

Switching to a southpaw style at times against his left-handed foe, Gavilan flunked the Michigan State grad in the finals of his graduate course in pugilism.

It was no contest although the game Davey kept flicking his impotent punches in annoying fashion against the 27-year-old champ from Camaguey.

Decked for a nine-count in the third from a furious fusillade of right-handed punches, Davey survived until the sleek Keed turned on the heat in the ninth. Gavilan amused himself by switching southpaw in the fifth and sixth.

Swarming to the attack in the ninth, after he had opened a cut under Davey's right eye in the previous round, the strong Gavilan simply overwhelmed the scrawny-looking lad who had escaped defeat in 39 previous pro fights.

Comes Out Punching

Davey seemed aware that he couldn't last longer after the cut opened. So he came out punching in the ninth. That was just what Gavilan had been waiting for.

A jolting right hand punch to Davey's reddened chops dropped him in mid-ring. He scrambled up to take the last part of a nine-count on one knee.

Pressing his attack against a man who now was badly hurt, Gavilan sent Davey to the deck again with a smashing left hook. Once more he took the count of nine.

Leaping in with all the fury of the attack that stopped young Gil Turner last July in Philadelphia, Gavilan slammed home a series of right-hand punches that drove Davey through the ropes to the ring apron on his back. The ex-collegian was back on his knees at about four but took the full nine count.

Scoring of the officials was fairly even on a point basis as far as the bout went. Referee Frank Gilmer had Gavilan ahead 49 to 41, but had awarded only three rounds to Gavilan, calling four even and giving the fourth and seventh to Davey.

Judge John Bray called it for Gavilan, 51-39, giving the Kid six rounds, making it one even and awarding the second and fourth to Davey.

Explosive Ninth

The other judge, Ed Hintz, voted 52 to 38 for Gavilan. Hintz saw five rounds for Gavilan, three even and gave the fourth to Davey.

In Illinois, scoring is based on 10 points per round.

Gavilan's explosive ninth won him an 8-2 count from Hintz and Gilmer, almost without precedent.

The Associated Press card had Gavilan winning six rounds, Davey two and one even.

Davey at 147 was a half pound heavier than Gavilan at 146½, in fact he had to weigh three times before he made the 147 pound class limit.

Approximately 20,000 fans saw the highly-touted title bout with millions more witnessing it on TV. The International Boxing Club, promoters of the match which was televised nationally, said the gross gate was $275,454 and the net receipts $211,415. Another $100,000 was added to this total for TV rights.

Hartman Is Fourth In Scoring; Maphis' Foul Average .869

Carl Hartman, former Ridgeley High ace, now with Alderson-Broaddus College, and Don Maphis, former Romney High star, now playing for Shepherd College, are 5th and 18th, respectively, in the latest scoring records of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference.

Hartman has scored 467 points in 20 games for an average of 23.3 while Maphis is averaging 15.4 for 169 points in 11 games.

The A-B player has made 170 field goals and 127 free throws while Maphis has 58 field goals and 53 fouls. Hartman holds fourth place in goal shooting, having meshed 144 baskets in 311 shots for an average of .463.

Maphis has the highest foul shooting average in the conference—.869 on 53 points in 61 tries. Hartman is second with .861. He has converted 99 of 115 throws.

Eddie Solomon of West Virginia Tech leads the W.V.I.C. scorers with 558 points in 17 games, an average of 32.8.

Clune's Goal Wins

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 11 (AP)—John Clune's last-second field goal gave Navy a 62-60 victory over Penn here today. The Midshipmen, their 12th straight at home, snapped the Quakers' six-game winning streak.

Keyser Hands Piedmont First PVC Loss, 63-55

First Period Spurt Earns Tornado Win

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 11 (AP)—A 26-point spurt in the first period gave Keyser High's Golden Tornado a tremendous lead which Piedmont was unable to overcome and the Lions suffered their first Potomac Valley Conference defeat here tonight by a 63 to 55 score.

The loss, the first in nine conference games, knocked Piedmont out of first place in the PVC circuit with Moorefield's Yellow Jackets taking over by virtue of a 13-1 loop record.

Piedmont opened the scoring with Gene Becker's goal and following a 4-4 deadlock Keyser's dam broke loose. George Karras broke the tie with a goal and the Tornado racked up 20 consecutive points in the next six minutes. Keyser led 26-6 at the close of the stanza.

Piedmont never recovered from that pasting and although the Lions steadily whittled Keyser's margin they weren't able to get closer than 42-36 at the end of the third stanza.

The victory for Keyser, the Tornado's eighth in 12 league games, avenged an earlier 43-41 overtime loss to the Lions in Piedmont.

Keyser actually won the game at the foul line as both teams garnered 23 field goals. The Tornado converted 17 of 30 free chances to Piedmont's 9 of 24.

Becker was the big noise for Keyser with 18 points, followed closely by teammates Ed Smith and Kady who each had 14 tallies. Tommy Miller scored 12 points for Piedmont.

In the preliminary game Keyser Junior High tossers defeated the Piedmont Junior High team 40 to 28. The lineups:

Cardinals Seek Tax Agreement

Federal Lien May Hinder Club's Sale

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11 (INS)—Negotiations were started today in an effort to settle the government's $558,901 civil tax claim against the St. Louis Cardinals and the club president, Fred Saigh.

H. M. Stolar, Saigh's tax attorney, met with federal internal revenue officials to seek an agreement on how much Saigh actually must pay.

If no agreement is reached, Stolar can appeal to the U. S. tax court for a hearing.

The government's civil proceedings are to collect taxes and penalties allegedly owed by Saigh and the Cardinals for unreported income from 1944 to 1950.

Saigh has been sentenced to 15 months in prison and fined $15,000 in a criminal tax evasion suit and is scheduled to start his term May 4.

Stolar's conference with the tax officials may produce an offer by the Cards to post a liability bond covering the government claim in order to avoid a government lien which would hinder the club's sale.

One of the largest government claims is based on a $350,000 loan by Saigh and the late Robert Hannegan at the time they bought the club in 1947.

Ike Uses Back Yard At White House For Golf

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Those golf balls whizzing around the spacious back yard of the White House are being propelled by the President of the United States. And they are likely to continue to fly.

President Eisenhower, an ardent golfer, has been making good use of the big lawn. And he reportedly has left scarcely a divot scar.

Eisenhower, it was learned, has slipped out to the yard several times since he took up residence at the White House Jan. 20. Last Saturday he spent an hour or so practicing iron shots in full view of passersby a block away.

Most of them failed to recognize the President.

DAVEY GOES DOWN—Chuck Davey, the previously unbeaten welter, goes down for the third time in the ninth round before a flurry of blows by Cuba Kid Gavilan, the welterweight champion, in last night's title fight before some 20,000 fans in Chicago Stadium. The knockdown was the fourth time Kid Gavilan had the challenger on the floor and when Davey failed to answer the 10th round bell the champ was awarded a TKO.

LaSalle Defeats Ridgeley 60-43 On Hawks' Floor

Losers Are Handed 14th Straight Setback

RIDGELEY, W. Va., Feb. 11 (AP)—LaSalle High's Explorers easily swept their season's series with the Ridgeley Blackhawks here tonight by handing the West Virginians their 14th straight setback on the Hawks' court, 60 to 43.

LaSalle won the opener in Cumberland earlier in the season by a 28 to 21 count.

Coach Art Slocum's charges led only 10-9 at the close of the first quarter but poured 20 points through the hoops in the second stanza to leave the court with a 30-22 edge they never relinquished. The score was 39-27 at the end of the third stanza.

Barney Spearman was LaSalle's big gun with 22 markers, scored on eight fielders and six for six at the foul line. Barney's perfect night at the charity stripe gave him 46 for 52 chances for the year.

Colin Detrick topped Ridgeley's scorers with 14 points, six coming at the foul line.

The win was the 13th for LaSalle against five defeats.

In the preliminary tilt, Ridgeley's Jayvees defeated the LaSalle Junior Varsity by a 45 to 42 score. The lineups:

LaSalle	G	F	Ridgeley	G	F

Personals: LaSalle—Nolan 3, Mullaney 3, Spearman 8, Shuck 2, Christ 3, Zarger 2, Harris 2, Kienhofer, Ridgeley—K. Detrick, Bradley, Hartman, Showers 4, Phillips 4, Scharfetter.

Score by periods: LASALLE 16 20 9 21-60; RIDGELEY 10 13 8 16-43. Officials—Baker and Hull.

Alhambra To Test Purple Heart In Shuffle Feature

Two of the top teams in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League—Purple Heart and the Alhambra Club—will meet in the feature match on tonight's program.

Purple Heart leads the league with a 42-15 record while Alhambra is tied for fourth place only three games off the pace with a 39-18 record. The Purple Heart Club will be scene of the action.

Cumberland Amvets and Cumberland VFW are deadlocked for the runner-up spot with 40 wins, 17 losses. They trail Purple Heart by two games.

The Amvets host Golden Nugget of Frostburg while the Vets engage Fisher and Robinette at the V.F.W. Home.

Stadium Inn, Frostburg, now sharing fourth place with Alhambra, visits the Hi Dee Club tonight. Other matches on tap are Hann's Tavern at Mt. Savage VFW and Frostburg Knights of Columbus at Goodfellowship Club.

The W.O.W. at Frostburg Legion match is scheduled for Friday night.

Army To Draft Penn's Eddie Bell

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania announced today that Eddie Bell, All America end, will be inducted into the Army tomorrow.

Bell, a senior, will complete his undergraduate work when he completes his military service, the university said, and then will enter law school.

Bell was the choice of the Philadelphia Eagles in the recent National Football League draft and the Negro gridder said he hopes to play with the pros when he finally gets out of the Army.

Peskin's Wallop Bell's Five In YMCA Cage Loop

Peskin's cagers racked up their fourth victory of the second half in the Senior Men's League at Central YMCA last night by wallopping Lou Bell's Five, 65 to 47. In the other loop tilt the Tri-State Cleaners took The Spot to the cleaners, 59 to 43.

Bell's Five lost their fourth game despite a 26-point effort by Center Don Lilya. Bill Day of Peskin's also had 26 points. The lineups:

Colts Seek Trade Of Billy Vessels

Oklahoma Gridder To Go To Canada

BALTIMORE, Feb. 11 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts indicated today Billy Vessels is available as trade bait to the highest bidder—if the price in players is right.

The flashy Oklahoma halfback, Heisman Trophy winner, was Baltimore's first draft choice, but he has decided he would rather play with Edmonton in the Canadian Football League.

"I've made up my mind. I'm going to sign with Edmonton Saturday," Vessels announced today at his campus dormitory in Norman, Okla.

"It's not that I don't want to play with Baltimore," he commented. "It's just that I think playing with Edmonton will be better for me in the long run."

He indicated that two teammates, also drafted by the Colts, had decided to sign with Baltimore. They are Center Tom Catlin and Fullback Buck McPhail.

"I would like to be on the same team with Buck and Tom, but they're going to Baltimore," Vessels said.

Colts President Don Kellert said he would consider offers for the 185-pound gridder from other National Football League clubs in the near future. A couple of clubs already have put out feelers, he said.

CaribbeeCops Sailing Lead

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 11 (AP)—Caribbee, the swift defending champion, moved back into a commanding lead today on the final leg of the 15th annual Miami-Nassau Ocean Sailing Race.

The 57-foot, white-hulled yawl, ably skippered by Carleton Mitchell, Annapolis, Md., showed her quality when the going was toughest.

Winds and heavy seas battered the million-dollar fleet in the second leg of the 184-mile race, a beat to windward down Northwest Providence Channel. Two yachts were forced to drop out and others reported damaged rigging.

Tribe Sells Hurler

CLEVELAND, Feb. 11 (INS)—The Cleveland Indians announced today that they sold Pitcher George Zuverink to their Indianapolis club in the American Association. Zuverink did not win or lose a game with the Indians last season. His departure cut the Tribe's roster to 43 players.

Cats Avenge Earlier Loss To Teachers

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 11—Potomac State's Catamounts came from behind in the second half and avenged an earlier 78-77 loss to Frostburg State by defeating the Teachers here tonight, 77 to 66.

Frostburg led 18-17 and 39-38 in the first two periods but Potomac took a four-point lead at 54-50 by the close of the third stanza and pulled steadily ahead in the final period for its sixth victory in 18 games.

Frostburg at one time held a 27-20 lead in the second period before the Cats began their rally.

George Baird paced the victors with 20 points while Jack Barham had 21 for Frostburg. GERALD Cool was the only player ejected on personals, the Potomac player leaving early in the final period. The lineups:

Frostburg	G	F	Pot. State	G	F
Chapman	2	2	Sutton	4	4
Orr	5	2	Nixon	0	1
Hicks	3	5	Murovich	4	0
Barham	9	3	Baird	8	4

Beall Grapplers Face Everett In Frostburg Tonight

Coach Ray Hull's Beall High wrestling team will meet its second school opponent on the mats tonight when the Mountaineers host the Everett, Pa., High School grapplers at the Frostburg gym at 8 o'clock.

Beall lost its only team appearance last week when it was defeated 35-3 by the Romney School for Blind matmen. Tonight Ray Hull's inexperienced team hopes to make a better showing.

Bill Eichhorn, 145-pound wrestler, was Beall's only winner against Romney. He will seek win No. 2 tonight.

Hull also announced the Waynesburg College wrestling team will put on an exhibition Saturday, Feb. 21 at 8 p. m. at the Beall gym.

Reds Sign Five

CINCINNATI, Feb. 11 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds announced the signing of five more players to 1953 contracts today, among them Bob Marquis, powerful candidate for centerfield.

Others signed are Pitchers Bud Podbielni and Cliff Ross and Catchers Frank Baldwin and Dick Kinaman.

Clingerman's Win 3-0 In Shuffleboard Loop

In Allegany County Women's National Shuffleboard League matches last night, the second-place Clingerman's outfit won over Pocahontas 3-0, VFW blanked Twigg's 3-0, the Moose topped WOW 2-1, Frostburg Golden Nugget posted a 2-1 decision over Purple Heart and Stadium Inn of Frostburg stopped Joe's Tavern, 2-1.

Staley Inks Pact

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' pitching ace, Gerry Staley, has put his 1953 contract in the mail.

No salary figure was announced but Staley is believed to have signed for a little better than $20,000. That would represent a slight increase over his last year's pay.

Top speed of a race horse is estimated at 48 miles an hour.

Rain Washes Snow; Most Roads Clear

Milder Weather Seen For Today

Snow which began causing trouble on area highways yesterday morning and afternoon turned to rain and sleet last night with above freezing temperatures easing work on cindering crews.

Roads were wet but clear in most sections of the Tri-State district with only a few "high" mountainous roads forming slick spots late last night.

The State Road Commission last night reported all of their cinder and salt crews which were busy on highways all day, had returned last night. Only one truck was out about 9:30 p. m. cinder a section of Little Savage Mountain west of Frostburg where several tractor trailer trucks had "tied up" traffic.

SRC officials said roads were in "pretty good shape" last night since most roads were well cindered during the day. In Garrett County rain was beginning to freeze in spots but Maryland State Police reported highways were still open with only a few spots hazardous.

During the day 11 crews were busy cinder in Garrett County while east of Cumberland on the mountains other trucks were working on highways. All highways were reported cindered last night.

Generally over the district, about one inch of snow fell up to 1 p. m. yesterday including Cumberland. After that the flakes changed to drizzle and then to a downpour, as mercury climbed.

Here in the Queen City melted precipitation together with rainfall amounted to .25 of an inch late last night. This measurement was true for other sections in the district.

State Police in Pennsylvania and West Virginia reported rain falling in those sections last night with a few spots reporting sleet. Highways were generally clear except for a few slippery spots. At 10 p. m. temperature ranged from just below freezing to the high 40's in the district.

In Cumberland high temperature for the day was 33 degrees, low was 29 and at 8 p. m. thermometers leveled at 32 climbing one degree since 6 p. m.

Forecast for today is milder with occasional rain with a slight chance of a light snow early this morning.

Gephart PTA To Meet At School On Feb. 16

Members of the Gephart PTA will meet February 19 at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium.

The meeting will begin with a business session conducted by Mr. W. E. Lawver, president. Following the business meeting a program will be presented which will consist of a presentation of Cub Scout work, under the direction of Byron Kight. The association will witness a typical den meeting of the scouts and be able to view some of their handiwork. Mrs. Delisle Chaney will direct the Girl Scouts and the Brownies in a short program giving the work of these groups. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting by the parents of the First and Second Grades. Mrs. Charles Langham and Mrs. Carl Eichner are chairmen of this social event. A bake sale will be held at the close of the meeting.

Pageant To Climax Area's Boy Scout Week Observance

Approximately 1,500 area Scouts, Cub Scouts and Explorers are marking the 43rd anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America this week along with more than 3,250,000 boys and adult leaders in the nation.

"Forward on Liberty's Team" is the birthday theme and the emphasis is on "The Scout Family" of programs meeting interests of boys in three age groups, Cub Scouting for boys 8, 9 and 10; Boy Scouting for boys 11, 12 and 13; and Exploring for those 14 and up.

Climaxing the area's observance of Scout Week is the Cumberland District's pageant to be held tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. at the Strand Theater. Troops and Packs have been assigned projects in making the event's scenery and other props.

Herbert Lehr, Scoutmaster of Troop 4, and Willis V. Smith, Potomac Council Scout executive secretary, have prepared the pageant's script based on the theme, "Forward on Liberty's Team." All Scouting units in the area

Light Attends Classes On Spraying Equipment

R. E. Light, 517 Shriver Avenue, representing the Light and Decker Company of Cumberland, was among the 21 dealers of the F. E. Myers and Brothers Company, who attended the three-day training classes on power and hand sprayers in the main office at Ashland, Ohio, which opened on Monday.

Information on new and improved Myers sprayers comprised much of the training program. Myers recently developed a field crop concentrate sprayer, convertible to orchard use, which is claimed by the Company to give the user a saving in material, time and labor.

Pair Released On $1,000 Bonds In Larceny Case

Two Salisbury, Pa. men were released under $1,000 bond each for action of the Grand Jury yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court after they waived a preliminary hearing on a charge of larceny.

William George Albright, 22, and Carl Earl Albright, 20, were arrested along with Elmer James Carder, 35, of Loartown, on February 5 by Trooper First Class Harry S. Bosley and the trio was reported to have pilfered eight vehicles in the Ti-Towns. Carder is being held in the Allegany County Jail.

Police said the three men stole seven autos and a truck taking a number of items valued at about $400. Among the items taken were clothes, blankets, logging chain and a number of auto accessories which had been torn from the looted cars.

Magistrate Morris Baron yesterday set bond for the Albright men at $1,000 each.

Tuesday in Trial Magistrate Court, two other men were ordered held under $3,000 bond each after they waived a preliminary hearing in which they were charged with stealing $689.19 in cash and checks from the Sunshine Feed Company, Inc.

have been furnished with printed invitations for distribution. Officials said that every person who attends the event will leave the invitation at the box office, and the unit which distributes the most invitations turned in, will earn a theater party sponsored by the management of the Strand.

Meanwhile throughout the area Council other districts have planned outings, covered dish suppers, rallies, religious services and other programs.

Scout Week begins the second year in a three-year program to which 3,000,000 boys and men have dedicated themselves. Stirred by the theme, "Forward on Liberty's Team," the plan is designed to do all in its power to make our nation physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (INS)—At last, Cyd Charisse gets the stardom break long overdue at MGM, the spotlight role in Arthur Freed's musical remake of "Kismet."

"Til I heard this news, if anyone had asked me to name the most neglected talent in Hollywood, I'd have to have said, Cyd. A beauty and a wonderful ballerina, such dancers as Jeanne Marie, Collette Marchand and others seemed to be getting the big breaks."

Several years ago, Marlene Dietrich made "Kismet"—but you won't recognize the new version in music and color which Arthur is building around Mrs. Tony Martin's twirling toes.

I've said all along that the only thing holding up the marriage of Merle Oberon and Dr. Rex Ross is Merle's yen to live in Europe. Well, Merle has exercised the woman's prerogative. She is staying put in Hollywood, taking her home off the market—and even more important, resuming her career.

Several months ago when Merle told me she was retiring it was hard for me to believe. She has been a glamorous star for a long time, and it's good news that she's taking up her work on the screen, radio and in TV—particularly with all these exciting new developments popping in all fields.

Never, but never, has Rosalind Russell looked as well as she does in "Wonderful Town" and there have been few musical comedies as bright, as gay and as good.

The trip I made to Philadelphia by motor to see her was well worth the effort. The agility with which Roz dances, and the cute way she puts her songs over delighted all of us.

Roz has cut her hair very short and it makes her look so young. She took a train call after curtain call and it was thrilling to be there.

The gay fling Paulette Goddard's been having in New York will be interrupted next month when she flies back to Hollywood to make "Charge of the Lancers" for Sam Katzman.

The part should be to her liking. As a gypsy fortune teller operating during the Crimean War she'll get a chance to wear (techni) colorful clothes and jools.

Speaking of Sam Katzman—before the picture rolls, he has a real life father-of-the-bride production to stage. His daughter, Ruth, marries Paul Sperling, Feb. 15, at the Bel Air Hotel.

by Bob Considine

WASHINGTON — (INS) — How goes the honeymoon? Swimming?

The wisest of the long-term Washington newsmen, Bill Hutchins, sat in his sun-splashed office, surrounded by affectionately autographed photos of political giants who had passed this way, and said he had never seen anything like the relationship between Eisenhower and "The Hill."

"You hear a lot about the 'hundred day' honeymoon around Washington. But this one shows signs of lasting. Roosevelt generally got what he wanted out of Congress by ruthless-looking pressure, under which Congress cracked or yielded—often in the interests of wartime unity."

"But this Congress definitely wants to help Eisenhower put over his program. Sure, there are squawks here and there. It wouldn't be healthy if there weren't. But Eisenhower has the absolutely solid support of the two men who matter most in Congress, Joe Martin and Bob Taft."

"You can forget the nonsense that Taft still bears a grudge against Eisenhower because of the things that happened at Chicago last summer. Nobody on 'The Hill' is working harder in Eisenhower's behalf than Taft, and nobody can help him more."

Vice Admiral Ma Chi-Chuang, commander in chief of the Chinese Nationalist Navy, arrives in Washington for a week of talks which could have enormous significance.

The mandarin-speaking 42-year-old admiral, equipped with interpreters, is expected to lay at least the groundwork of Chiang Kai-shek's appeal to the U. S. for aid in the way of fighting ships, transports and landing craft. Some Washington observers believe Ma will propose a "destroyers-for-bases" deal similar to President Roosevelt's historic exchange of 50 "obsolescent" destroyers for Ma confidently told a group of Chinese in New York Sunday that Chiang has 600,000 trained men to throw against the mainland, and 1,500,000 guerrillas ready to fight for him when the army gains its beachhead.

The admiral's youthful manner belies his 25 years in service. Ma passed through every promotion known to the Chinese Navy without skipping grade. He had some U. S. Navy training near the end of the war. His big promotion-winning deed was his command of a plucky destroyer escort squadron which rear-guarded the escape to Formosa of Chiang, his government and his movable goods.

Ma also was a big man in a little-recorded but dramatic escape of dozens of Chiang's gunboats and small armed ships that successfully ran a Red gauntlet which had claimed two large and well-armed British ships.

Sen. Alexander Wiley (R) Wis., apparently has stopped cranking up that punch he was directing at Tito. Or, at least, he has put the punch in temporary cold storage.

Chief reason is Tito's new found interest in a non-aggression pact with Greece (which he once infested with guerrillas) and Turkey. Wiley has reluctantly come to the conclusion that the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff are probably right in considering Tito a "plus." Until the military changes its mind about Tito, Wiley—who cannot comprehend why we fight communism in Korea and encourage it in Yugoslavia—will hold his fire.

TURN ENEMY TO FRIEND

A GREAT American humanitarian, President of his country, was once asked why he treated his enemies with such kindness. "What would you have me do?" he asked, and the other replied, "Destroy them!" To which he responded: "When I turn an enemy into a friend, haven't I destroyed an enemy?" Such tactics are necessary sometimes in the effort to make a contract which can't be achieved without the help of your opponents. Who was that American humanitarian? Oh, yes—Abraham Lincoln.

South refused to slam invitation because he thought he had already bid at least all his hand justified. In this he proved sound, as it required evidence he had to bring the 5-Hearts safely into port.

Interesting use was made of every trump in South's holdings, beginning with the dummy's 2, which ruffed the opening lead of the diamond K. The spade A was scored and the 2 ruffed by the heart 3, then the diamond 4 by the heart 4. The heart 8 was led, the A killing the Q, and the diamond 5 was ruffed by the heart 7, followed by a ruff of the spade 4 by the heart A. On the heart J, the club 7 was shed from dummy. Then the heart 6 put West in on the 10.

The remaining position showed the dummy retaining the spade K-J-8 and club A. South the diamond J-6 and club 6-4. West the diamond A-10 and club K-8, and East the spade Q and club Q-10-9. Poor West was now in a situation which compelled him to be on South's side. He could score only his diamond A, then had to give the declarer the rest of the tricks. North would take them all if he returned a club, so he led the diamond 10 back after cashing the A. That gave South a trick with the J, and a club to the dummy furnished the remaining tricks there.

CABLE TV NEWS

Many are asking if we are going to carry Altoona on our cable system. Yes, we intend to make use of any station whereby we can get clearer reception and a better variety of programs.
It may be that we will use Altoona during the day and for their sport events, then switch to Pittsburgh for their sport events and their all night and early morning programs or, we may be able to substitute Altoona for some of Washington's Disc Jockey programs and the time left unused by Washington on Saturdays and Sundays.
After a short study of reception and programs, we will keep the local papers informed in advance for their publications.

One Killed, Seven Injured In Crashes On Slippery Roads

Cleveland Youth Dies In Accident On U. S. Route 50

Five Are Hurt In Wreck Near Frostburg

Snow-covered highways yesterday played a part in two separate accidents which killed one person and injured seven others.

A young Cleveland, Ohio man was killed when his car skidded into a truck on U. S. Route 50 near Capon Bridge, W. Va., late yesterday morning. Two passengers in the car were injured, one of them seriously.

FATALLY HURT

James Joseph Francis McCaffery, 21, of Cleveland.

HOSPITALIZED

Howard Norman Lerch, 21, of Berea, Ohio, at Winchester, (Va.) Memorial Hospital.

James Robert Romane, 18, of Olmstead Falls, Ohio, at Winchester.

Earl R. Ryan, 3, Eckhart Mines, at Miners Hospital, Frostburg.

Mrs. Myrtle Porter, 50, Eckhart Mines, at Miners Hospital.

ALSO INJURED

Robert J. Ryan, 47, Eckhart Mines.

Mrs. Annie Ryan, 40, Eckhart Mines.

James E. Banger, 37, of 511 Frederick Street, Cumberland.

Five persons were hurt in a two-car collision on U. S. Route 40 just east of Frostburg yesterday afternoon. At least one—a three-year-old boy—was seriously hurt.

The victim of the fatal accident was James Joseph Francis McCaffery, 21, of Cleveland.

State Police at Romney, W. Va., said McCaffery was driving over Cooper Mountain a mile and half west of Capon Bridge on Route 50 when his car skidded out of control and hit a truck.

Youth Seriously Hurt

Two passengers were admitted to Winchester (Va.) Memorial Hospital. They were Howard Norman Lerch, 21, of Berea, Ohio, who was in "very serious" condition with a skull fracture, and James Robert Romane, 18, of Olmstead Falls, near Cleveland, who was less seriously hurt.

Hospital attaches said Lerch underwent surgery shortly after he was admitted to the hospital early yesterday afternoon.

Two cars collided on slippery U. S. Route 40 two miles east of Frostburg at about 2 p. m. yesterday, injuring five persons.

At least one of the accident victims—three-year-old Earl R. Ryan of Eckhart Mines—was seriously hurt. The child was in "fair" condition last night in Miners Hospital, Frostburg, with a possible skull fracture.

Also in the hospital was Mrs. Myrtle Porter, 50, of Eckhart Mines, with a possible fracture of the left ankle and severe shock. She also was in "fair" condition.

Made Left Turn

State Police said the accident occurred at the intersection of Route 40 and the Frog Hollow Road as the Ryan boy's father, Robert J. Ryan, 47, was making a left turn into the secondary road.

Trooper First Class Donald R. Wade said a car being driven toward Cumberland by James E. Banger, 37, of 511 Frederick Street, skidded on the snow and slush and smashed into the right side of the Ryan vehicle.

Banger's right leg was fractured, but he was able to leave the Frostburg hospital after a doctor applied a cast. Ryan also was discharged after having fractured ribs taped up. His wife, Mrs. Annie Ryan, 40, had lacerations and shock, but later was discharged from the hospital. Mrs. Porter also was a passenger in the Ryan car.

Police said Ryan's 1939 sedan was a total loss, and that the front of Banger's car was badly damaged.

No charges were filed pending further investigation.

Birthday Party In Japan

Captain Edna M. Browning (left) of Cumberland, takes part in the celebration of the 52d anniversary of the Army Nurse Corps in Yokohama, Japan. Captain Ingrid M. Edmund (center) of Ottumwa, Iowa, receives the first piece of the birthday cake from Major Elizabeth Flavell of Eaton, Pa. All are stationed with the 8168th Army Unit Hospital in Yokohama. Captain Browning, daughter of Mrs. Edna E. Browning, LaVale, is a graduate of Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. She joined the Army Nurse Corps in 1944 and served at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington before going to Japan last December to become section supervisor in the Yokohama hospital.

Vehicle License Applications To Go Out Feb. 18

Sale Here Will Start March 2

The State Department of Motor Vehicles says it will start mailing out applications for 1953-54 license plates next Wednesday, February 18.

Automobile owners may get their tags by filling out the applications and mailing them back in a self-addressed envelope along with a check or money order to cover the fee.

Tags also may be obtained by presenting the applications and cash at the office of Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat in the Court House beginning Monday, March 2. Treat is serving as license plate agent for Allegany County for the third successive year. A 15 cent handling fee will be collected for licenses purchased here.

Owners will get only one black plate with gold lettering this year and it is to be affixed to the rear of the car. It also will differ from the present license in that it will include a combination of letters and numbers instead of just numbers as has been the case.

Treat has been assigned the letters GH and GJ. Plates for issuance here will run from GH1001 to GH 9999 and GJ 1001 to GJ 9999. All double and triple zeroes will be eliminated. All plates mailed out from the Department of Motor Vehicles office will be in the D series no matter to what section of the state they go.

Thomas B. R. Mudd, motor vehicles commissioner, has suggested using the mails will avoid having to stand in line. He warned that mailed applications should be in by March 20.

The new licenses may be substituted for old ones on March 1 and thereafter and the old tags expire March 31. Applications for trucks and other types of vehicles will be mailed out March 1.

Orbello Bookmaking Trial Set For Feb. 25

Orland James Orbello, who was arrested here when he returned for a New Year's holiday visit, will face a jury trial in Allegany County Circuit Court Wednesday, February 25, on 11 charges of bookmaking.

Orbello was indicted by the grand jury on the 11 charges last April.

The indictments charge him with taking bets from Margaret H. Kelly on 11 occasions between January 18, 1951, and March 10, 1951.

Crosstown Bridge Plan Discussed In Baltimore

Span Would Be Built At Cost Of $7,000,000

An overall picture of the proposed $7,000,000 crosstown bridge and related projects was outlined yesterday to a local delegation in a conference at Baltimore with the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The bridge is part of a 12-year program which is being planned by the state toward highway construction and improvement throughout Maryland.

According to Mayor Roy W. Eves, who attended the meeting, the span would begin in the vicinity of Park and Emily Streets, extend south of the Queen City Station and south to Johnson Street beyond Riverside Park.

The first four years of the state-wide program, which will cost approximately $550,000,000, would include planning and acquisition of right of way, Eves continued. This period would extend from 1953 to 1957.

During the second four years the actual construction of the bridge would be accomplished according to SRC officials, as well as the approach from Lindernville.

In the final four years a link to Route 40 from the Johnson Street end of the span would be completed.

During the conference plans were discussed concerning the bridge, the proposed C&O Canal Parkway and the planned industrial belt route in South Cumberland.

During the meeting, SRC officials pointed out that Cumberland must prepare for an increase in motor vehicle traffic which is expected to jump about 70 per cent in the nation over the next 20 years.

The crosstown bridge and approaching highway lanes would be a solution to cope with the problem, engineers noted.

James Alfred Avirett, chairman of the Crosstown Bridge Committee, pointed out that the crosstown facility must be coordinated with the new interstate bridge which will be built on top of the industrial dam across the Potomac.

An up-to-date map of the proposed bridge and highway approaches will be given to Mayor Eves by the SRC. Attending the meeting from here yesterday were Mayor Eves, Avirett, Robert W. Young, Anthony Saels, George Milleson and Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer. County Commissioner William H. Lemmert and Commissioner John J. Long were unable to attend.

Representatives of the State Roads Commission who met at the office of Russell H. McCain, SRC chairman, included Avery W. Hall and David M. Nichols, members of the commission; William S. Childs Jr., chief engineer of SRC; George N. Lewis Jr., director of traffic division; Norman Pritchett, location engineer and Edward S. Gleason, district engineer, U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Hargreaves Speaks To Exchange Club

Progress in industrial development in this area was discussed by Albert H. Hargreaves, director of industrial development for the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting of the Exchange Club in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

He cited the fact that a new industry will locate here in the next 30 days if 20 experienced machinists are available.

After his talk, Hargreaves conducted an open forum on the methods of attracting new industry and retaining and expanding existing businesses.

House Passes Bill On W. Va. Assessments

Five Amendments Are Beaten Off

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 11 — A bill aimed at bringing about equalization of property assessments weathered a stormy session in the West Virginia House today. Five attempts to amend the measure were beaten off.

The bill which came before the House was a Judiciary Committee substitute for the original version. Most of the features which ignited opposition from county assessors already had been deleted.

Del Pauley (D-McDowell) offered from the floor the first amendment which would, in effect, have killed the measure by wiping out the enacting clause. After more than 90 minutes of debate, the Pauley amendment was beaten in a 66-31 vote which crossed party lines.

Four Others Beaten.

Four other amendments later were beaten on voice votes, and the measure was advanced to passage stage tomorrow in the form in which the judiciary committee brought it out.

That committee struck out of the original bill provisions which would have strengthened the powers of the State Tax Commissioner over assessments in the counties. The main changes which the bill, as it now stands, would make in existing law are:

County boards of equalization and review, now composed of the three county court members, would be enlarged to include one representative of the county board of education and one member sitting on behalf of the county's municipalities.

Salary Boost Noted

A state board of equalization and review would be created to pass on the work of the county boards when requested to do so either by the property owner or the county group. Making up the state board would be the budget director, the State Tax Commissioner and the Conservation Director.

The Senate received from its education chairman, Sen. McKown (D-Wayne), a concurrent resolution proposing that the legislative finance committee determine what can be done about a cost-of-living salary boost at state colleges.

McKown's measure advocates a $60 monthly salary increase for instructors and administrative personnel at West Virginia University and state colleges. A similar resolution was introduced in the House by Del. Loope (D-Kanawha).

Cattle Feeding Meeting Set

A number of authorities from the University of Maryland will be here next Wednesday for the annual meeting on cattle feeding which will be held at the City Hall, according to County Agent R. F. McHenry.

John P. Dietrich, assistant professor in the Dairy Department, will discuss "The Little Things That Count." Joseph Vial of the Livestock Department will talk on "The Production of Quality Commercial Beef Calves."

"Pasture Management and Utilization" will be the topic of Stanley P. Stabler of the Agronomy Department. "A Year Around Program of Livestock Insect and Pest Control" is the subject of Theodore L. Bissell of the Entomology Department.

Concluding the program, Assistant County Agent Joseph M. Steger and Martin Gordon, soil conservation aid, will show pictures of farm scenes taken here in Allegany County.

Pageant Group Meets

The contestants committee of the Junior Association of Commerce's 1953 "Miss Western Maryland" beauty contest will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Crystal Laundry Company, 201 South Mechanic Street.

Chicken Dinner Set

A chicken dinner for the benefit of St. Philip's Episcopal Chapel will be served from 2 to 6 p. m. on Sunday in the parish house, 9 South Smallwood Street.

Lincoln Got Few Votes Here In 1860 Election

By ALBERT D. DARBY News Staff Writer

Abraham Lincoln, whose memory is revered today on the 144th anniversary of his birth in a Kentucky log cabin, has not always been regarded so highly.

When the homespun man ran for President of the United States for the first time in 1860 he received the vote of only one in every eight Allegany County voters.

A check of Will H. Lowdermilk's History of Cumberland in the Cumberland Free Public Library shows that the first Republican candidate for President got only 322 votes in this county which now has become a GOP bulwark.

Ran Poor Fourth

Lincoln was a poor fourth in a four-man race in Allegany County in 1860. Leading the field here in that election of over 92 years ago was John Bell, the Constitutional Union candidate who polled 1,521.

Next was Stephen A. Douglas, a Democrat, who received 1,203 votes. Third was John C. Breckinridge, another Democrat, who got 980 votes. The four candidates altogether had 4,226 votes and Lincoln's total of 322 was only 12.3 per cent of the aggregate.

Allegany County in those days included what also now is Garrett County, an area that is considered even stronger in its Republicanism than Allegany. Garrett County became a separate entity in 1872.

By November, 1864, with the end of the Civil War approaching, Lincoln did receive a sizeable majority in Allegany County. He polled 2,455 to 1,990 for General George B. McClellan, the Demo-

Pistol Theft Solved

Ridgeley and Cumberland police last night cleared the theft of five pistols from the Wilson Hardware Company store here with the arrest of a 16-year-old Ridgeley boy.

Charles H. Fryer, Ridgeley police commissioner, and City Detective Roy C. Hawse said the boy admitted breaking into the North Mechanic Street store to steal the pistols on the night of February 1.

Fryer and Hawse talked to the youth after Fryer learned that three of the pistols were in the boy's possession.

The boy, said Hawse, admitted he had the guns, but said he had thrown the other two away. Fryer later located the missing weapons. All were in good condition.

The officers also found seven boxes of .22 calibre shells for the target pistols. Three of the guns and a holster were in a small canvas bag which the boy said he had taken from the store.

Hawse and Fryer said the boy told them he had broken the store's skylight to gain entrance. After taking the guns, holster and ammunition and placing them in the bag, he scooped up a small amount of change and left by way of the skylight.

The boy also admitted breaking into the Spot Confectionery in Ridgeley over the weekend to steal a small amount of change, according to Fryer and Hawse.

Fryer released the youth in custody of his parents pending further investigation of the case. The boy has no previous record, he said.

City Parking Plan Measure Is Proposed

A bill providing for an off-street parking plan for Cumberland has been introduced in the General Assembly by Del. Fred B. Driscoll of this city.

Del. Driscoll said yesterday the measure, if approved by the legislature, will allow the Mayor and Council to set up an off-street parking board.

This board, with the approval of the Mayor and Council, would have the authority to finance parking facilities to a responsible operator. The financing would be at a low rate of interest to the operator as the city would issue bonds which it can get at a low rate of interest, Driscoll noted.

This bill would be an enabling act, Driscoll said, and does not force the city to take action. The debt limitation on the bond issue would be $350,000, according to the measure introduced today.

The proposal has been discussed by Del. Driscoll and the Mayor and Council, and the legislator said the commissioners have indicated they are in favor of it.

It is designed after the bill that set up the Off-Street Parking Board of Baltimore, Driscoll pointed out.

In Baltimore 6,000 cars have been taken off the streets. Fourteen parking facilities have been constructed at a cost of $5,000,000 while four more are being built from a second allotment of $5,000,000.

The plan in Baltimore has attracted attention from all parts of the country and just recently an official from Toronto, Can., visited there to check the successful set-up, the delegate said.

Before drafting the bill, Del. Driscoll said he conferred with the chairman of the Off-Street Parking Board in Baltimore, W. G. Ewald. Then the proposal was presented to City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and the Mayor and Council.

The Baltimore plan, and the one proposed by Del. Driscoll, works this way. The board approves the site and applicant for a loan. This is then turned over to the Mayor and Council for approval.

The board effects a contract with the operator. The city then sets the rate of interest on the money, taking into consideration the interest on the bonds plus any taxes that would be lost through the tearing down of a building to make way for the parking facilities.

A bill passed in the General Assembly in 1951 enabled the city to go into the parking business through revenue bonds. The Driscoll measure would take the city out of business.

Garrett Co. Delegation Gets Legal Whisky Bill

Mayor Hinebaugh Leads Committee To Annapolis To Outline Proposal

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 11 —The Garrett County delegation today had under consideration from Oakland Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh a proposal for a referendum to legalize the sale of liquor in Garrett County.

State Offices And Banks To Honor Lincoln Today

Although business will be conducted as usual in most places today, state offices and local banks will be closed in observance of Lincoln's Birthday.

Not even the marriage license office at the Court House will be open. Other state offices there and at the Union Street County Building also will be closed.

Trial Magistrate and Police Courts will not be in session today, and Circuit Court also will take a holiday.

Federal offices in the Post Office Building, however, will remain open.

Murder Probe Questionnaire Brings Replies

More Answers Are Expected Today

A few replies to questionnaires on the Meister murder case already have been received, and State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said he expects more to arrive today.

Investigators on the case sent questionnaires to Mrs. Meister's fellow employees at the Celanese plant this week in an effort to learn more about the events of December 20.

It was on that dark, threatening winter afternoon that Mrs. Odessa Frances Meister, local housewife and Celanese worker, dropped out of sight for the last time.

Mrs. Meister was believed to have taken a bus to work shortly after 2 p. m., but it was never definitely established that she rode the bus.

All that is known for certain is that Mrs. Meister did not report for work that afternoon.

The questionnaires were sent to all Celanese workers who would have been entering or leaving the gates at the 3 p. m. change of shift.

Authorities hope that someone may have seen Mrs. Meister that afternoon, either at the Celanese plant or elsewhere, or that someone may have seen her later.

The State's Attorney's office has promised that any information obtained through the questionnaires will be kept strictly confidential.

Anyone who has information to give needn't even sign his name to the blank if he doesn't want to.

Meanwhile, Fletcher said there have been no further developments in the case, which has baffled investigators ever since Mrs. Meister's body was found on McNamee's Hill January 16.

No one, said Fletcher, is in custody.

Local Soldier To Sing On Kentucky Program

A local soldier will take part in a program today near Hodgenville, Ky., when LaRue County pays homage to its native son, Abraham Lincoln, on the 144th anniversary of his birth.

He is James R. Hager, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Hager, RFD 2, Williams Road, a well-known soloist of this section. During the program which opens at 2 p. m. today, Hager, now stationed at Fort Knox, will sing "My Old Kentucky Home." WAVE-TV Louisville will include portions of the ceremonies in an NBC nationwide telecast at 6:30 p. m. Principal speaker at the affair will be Honorable Alben W. Barkley, former vice-president of the United States. Hager, a graduate of Fort Hill High School, expects to arrive here tomorrow to spend a full day.

Chest Board To Meet

The executive board of the Cumberland Community Chest will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Chest Office, Liberty Trust Building.

Optimists Name Committee For Broadway Musical Here

The Optimist Club of Cumberland last night named the committee in charge of the local showing of "Kiss Me Kate," the recent popular musical comedy hit on Broadway.

The attraction, sponsored by the organization, will play one performance only at the Fort Hill High School auditorium on April 10. Committee members named last night at a meeting of the club in Central YMCA are:

Byron Kight, S. Allen Stagers, Bernard Whitacre, Richard Shoff and I. N. Evans.

In charge of publicity will be Kight, chairman. John Ankeney, Carl Amower, Lindon Gump and Howard Fisher, handling sale of tickets are Richard Shoff, chairman; Ellis Batdorf, Homer Higgins and Hugh Funkhouser.

In requesting that a bill be introduced, Mayor Hinebaugh told the delegation that the situation in the county's summer resort business was "critical."

"We don't want every hole in the wall in Garrett County to have a license to sell liquor," he said.

But "something has to be done" to stimulate business in the county and afford us some tax relief," he added.

Appearing with Hinebaugh were a group of residents of the county who were supporting the proposal. They were Russell Smith, Oakland; Troy Friend, Garrett County; lumberman, Dorsey Guard, a farmer, and Ward Hinebaugh, Floyd Leighton and Earl Railey, businessmen.

Hinebaugh had a petition with 2,228 signers who favored the measure.

Referendum In May

Under his proposal, a referendum would be held in May on the question. It would provide for county owned and operated package stores and sale by private business of liquor and wines by the drink only.

Profit from county sales would go toward the reduction of real estate taxes after the debt incurred in establishing the system is liquidated.

Revenues from license fees, which would be sold for $350 per year, would be divided with Garrett County getting half and the incorporated communities the other half.

Hinebaugh suggested that the number of licensees should be limited to "25 or 30." He told the delegation that the county presently has 54 licenses issued for sale of beer, the only alcoholic drink which can be sold legally in the county.

The bill would establish a liquor control board of three members to regulate the dispensary and licensing system.

Sen. Fraley (R-Garrett) and some of the delegates said letters from their constituents asked that if the referendum is approved, beer should be included.

Ward Hinebaugh said he would have no objection, because he thought the referendum would carry, but Mayor Hinebaugh said, "We're not asking for a referendum on beer."

The Oakland mayor pointed out that the county realized nearly $58,000 last year on the beer tax alone, and that if beer were placed on the referendum and was voted down, the county would have to find another source of revenue.

Del. Edwards (R-Garrett) said the delegation would take the proposal under consideration and would try to "hear from the other side" before any decision is reached.

4-H Leaders To Hear Magruder

John W. Magruder, state county agent leader, has been added to the list of speakers for the annual district meeting for 4-H local leaders and junior leaders of Allegany and Garrett Counties Saturday at the LaVale Fire Hall.

Magruder will speak at the noon luncheon in place of Mrs. Florence Low, state home demonstration agent, who tentatively had accepted.

Other speakers at the meeting, which will run from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m., include Mylo S. Downey, state club agent; Miss Dorothy Emerson, assistant state club agent; A. V. Krewatch of the University of Maryland; Miss Ethel Grove, Garrett County home demonstration agent; Joseph M. Steger, assistant Allegany County agent, and Miss Thelma J. Allin, assistant Allegany County home demonstration agent.

Newspapermen Meet Today To Thrash Out Problems

BALTIMORE, Feb. 11 (AP)—Maryland's newspapermen get together tomorrow with representatives of state agencies, police departments, public utilities and the armed services for a down-to-earth discussion on ways to dredge the channels to legitimate news.

The round-table meeting is being sponsored by the Freedom of Information Committee of the Chesapeake Associated Press Association. The Association is made up of all daily newspapers in Maryland.

The committee called the conference to try to iron out difficulties sometimes experienced by news-gathering agencies in obtaining information on happenings in the state.

Those participating in the discussions include Maryland's Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins, State Police Maj. W. H. Weber, Thomas J. O'Donnell, representing Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, and Col. Leon Booth of the Air Force's Research and Development Command.

Victor Hackler, general executive of The Associated Press from New York, will explain how news agencies in other states are approaching the problem.

Friday the Chesapeake Association members meet jointly with the Maryland Press Association, consisting of the state's weekly newspapers.
